P. E. BUS LINE FRANCHISE REFUSED

City Council Takes Stand It Does Not Wish to Block Other Plans

The Pacific Electric was temporarily denied permission to extend its Pacific avenue bus line to Kenneth road last night by the City Council.

The sole speaker in behalf of the Pacific Electric was Godfrey Edwards of Los Angeles, member of the realty firm of Edwards & Wildey, who stated that he had never received a penny from the Pacific Electric and never expected to, but that he was vitally interested as a property owner and as a realtor in seeing that the district under discussion got transportation.

The council took the attitude that it did not wish to tie its hands by granting the Pacific Electric the necessary franchise as this action might enable the Pacific Electric to object to the granting of a permit by the State Railroad Commission to a better bus line on the grounds that the territory would be served already by one bus line.

Voices Objection

"I am in favor of anything that helps the transportation system of Glendale generally," remarked O. M. Newby of 823 North Pacific avenue, "but I am against the granting of a franchise to the Pacific Electric for the extension of its present bus system to Kenneth road because I believe it is just an attempt on the part of the Pacific Electric to forestall any movement coming into Glendale to give us relief not only locally but into Los Angeles."

According to Mr. Edwards, the Pacific Electric should not be criticized for not having extended its service into this territory because it had never been asked to do so until he began to "hound" its passenger traffic department.

A brief but fiery talk against the granting of the franchise to the Pacific Electric was made by Alex Mitchell of 2001 Kenneth road who reminded the council that the bus would bring passengers to the car line who would be compelled to pay the present "exorbitant" rate to Los Angeles.

Called Stock Selling

Mr. Edwards stated that it did not seem fair to handicap the district with a lack of transportation just because a bus line being organized by C. D. Gulick desired the franchise. He intimated that this organization is not prepared to finance its program and called attention to the fact that its hearing before the state railroad commission had been continued until April 9 so that Mr. Gulick could produce evidence of the financial stability of his organization. He characterized the scheme as a stock selling promotion.

A discussion in regard to the bus company fostered by C. D. Gulick was interrrupted by Attorney Owen C. Emery, of 106-A East Broadway, president of the Glendale Credit association, who asserted that remarks by Mr. Edwards on this subject were irrelevant to the question as to whether or not the Pacific Electric should be given the requested franchise. He accused Mr. Edwards of attempting to filibuster and delay proceedings.

From Bus to Airplane

"I believe busses are the modern system of transportation," remarked Mr. Edwards during the discussion. "I believe in twenty-five years that we will all be traveling in busses if not in airplanes."

The Pacific Electric should be given consideration, according to Mr. Edwards, because it has busses all ready to put into service, while the busses of C. D. Gulick so far are ethereal and may never materialize.

After a discussion lasting an hour and a half, the City Council agreed that it would do just what it had intimated at the commencement of the meeting that it would do—and denied the Pacific Electric's application for a franchise, at least for the time being.

Motion for denial of the franchise was made by Councilman Sam Davis, seconded by Councilman A. H. Lapham.

Plot to Fight French In Ruhr Is Charged

BERLIN, March 23.—General Ludendorff, next to Hindenburg the biggest German figure in the world war, and Herr Hitler, leader of the Nationalist Socialists (German Fascisti), negotiated with Lieutenant Ross Bach and reactionary leaders of the German people's party, for recruiting volunteers to fight the French in the Ruhr, it was openly charged in the Prussian Landtag today by Herr Severingen, Prussian minister of interior, a socialist.

C. D. GULICK SEEKS BUS PERMIT

Letter From His Attorneys Accuses Pacific Electric Of 'Crude Tactics'

C. D. Gulick, president and general manager of the organization seeking a bus line franchise on local streets, as well as an interurban service, last night, through his attorneys, filed an application for permission to operate over a number of streets in Glendale. The application, as provided for by the city's ordinance regulating motor busses, was referred to the police department for a recommendation.

The streets, boulevards, highways, etc., applicant desires to operate motor busses over and through within the city of Glendale, are enumerated as follows: Allen avenue, Western avenue, Tenth street, Grand View avenue, Glenwood or Sixth street, Kenneth Road, Pacific avenue, Columbus avenue, Central avenue, Brand boulevard, Louise street, Jackson street, Adams street, Verdugo Road, Doran street, California avenue, Broadway, Colorado street, Windsor Road, San Fernando Road, Park avenue, Glendale avenue, Sycamore Canyon Road. Paragraph five of Ordinance No. 461, section six, states "The council may grant such permits for different route or routes in whole or in part, from that described in application, which different route or routes shall be described in the order granting such permit."

Accompanying the application was the following communication from Mr. Gulick's attorneys:

"Mayor and City Council:—Attached hereto, please find an application for permission to operate motor busses over and through certain public streets of the city of Glendale, California, made to conform to the requirements of Ordinance No. 461, an ordinance regulating and licensing the business of carrying passengers for hire in motor vehicles in the city of Glendale.

P. E. Application

"Applicant wishes to call your attention to the application recently made to your honorable body by the Pacific Electric Railway Company, for the extension of the Pacific avenue and Columbus avenue bus lines, now being operated by the Pacific Land Company, to the Kenneth Heights district. Applicant hardly believes it necessary to call your attention to the following, because he believes the mayor and city council have had sufficient experience with the Pacific Electric during the last two years to be fully aware that the policies of the Pacific Electric are not the policies best adapted to the general welfare of the citizens of this community; however, applicant hereby wishes to direct your attention to what applicant considers to be the real cause for the Pacific Electric, at this time, to ask for this extension.

Promises Lower Rates

"Your honorable body will remember that this applicant, C. D. Gulick, has now pending before the railroad commission, applications for permission to install

200 Prisoners Slain By Soviet, Is Claim

LONDON, March 23.—Two hundred political prisoners were shot down in towns in Georgia while others were tortured amidst the bodies in the streets, according to a formal charge made here today by a representative of the Georgian republic against the Russian soviet.

The Georgians accuse the Russian Bolshevists of creating a reign of terror in the little trans-Caucasian republic. The victims of the shootings were political prisoners who were alleged to have conspired against the soviet government of Georgia imposed by Moscow.

Many Georgian villages are reported to have been burned and thousands of persons imprisoned. Georgia was formerly a part of the old Russian empire.

Henry Ford Secures Extensive Coal Lands

DETROIT, March 23. — William H. Smith, natural resource engineer of the Ford Motor company, confirmed reports today that Henry Ford had purchased extensive coal lands in eastern Kentucky from the F. S. Peabody syndicate, Chicago, for a price between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

Smith said that the tract composed 120,000 acres lying in four counties of eastern Kentucky, but principally in Clay and Leslie counties

Indian War Ends With Capture of 5 Bucks, 4 Squaws

MONTICELLO, Utah, Mar. 23.—Utah's Indian uprising is over. The little band of Piute Indians who Monday started a war has been practically wiped out.

Four squaws and five bucks prisoners.

Cowboy Charley, one of the renegade band was killed, bringing the Indian death toll probably to five.

Old Posey, leader of the warring 'Utes, and Joe Bishop, father of the young Indian killed Wednesday, are two Indian remnants of the band still at large.

The fight for the capture of the renegades continued all day yesterday through the roughest part of Southeastern Utah.

The white posse, after taking the trail of the Indians divided and contingents were sent to guard all of the trails out of the country.

The fleeing Indians were forced into the canyon south of Elk mountain in a place where a break occurs in the San Juan river.

GLENDALE AVENUE SCHOOL WINNER

Wilson Athletes Beaten at Track Meet; Results of Various Events

Glendale Avenue Intermediate school athletes yesterday afternoon remained on the school grounds long enough to defeat those from Wilson Avenue Intermediate school in a track meet. However, it was up to the girls to do the trick.

The boys' division of the meet resulted as follows:

Glendale Avenue—Junior, 23 2-3; intermediate, 5; senior, 26; total, 54 2-3.

Wilson Avenue—Junior, 26 1-3; intermediate, 45; senior, 24; total, 95 1-3.

PIUTE BAND BESIEGED IN HILLS

Federal Agents Reach Scene In Effort to Halt Red Uprising

BULLETIN

MONTICELLO, Utah, March 23.—Staging a sensational escape from the camp of the posse which captured them, five Indian bucks captured last night, late today were at liberty and it is feared have succeeded in joining their leader, "Old Posey," resulting in a renewal of Utah's miniature Indian war.

MONTICELLO, Utah, March 23.—Despite reports coming from Blanding that the last runner to arrive from the hill country had reported the band of renegade Piute Indians surrounded by a posse which took the field against them early this week, old Indian fighters here expected a long siege.

"Old Posey," nearly a hundred years old, leading the little band, and the ten or more young braves with him, know every inch of the Allen canyon country and it was recalled that seven years ago the Indians were in a state of siege for more than a week before the matter was settled by the arrival of General Hugh L. Scott, who, alone and unarmed, went to the Indians' camp at Butler wash, some miles from Bluff. After a two-day parley he succeeded in taking "Old Poke," "Old Posey" and Tse-Ne-Gat to Salt Lake and thence to Denver. Tse-Ne-Gat was a fugitive from justice, as is Dutche's Boy, in the present band of outlaws.

Reports from Blanding said the possemen are taking all possible precautions against an ambush. The isolated country in which the Indians have hidden would lend itself to such a surprise due to its many hills. One of the reports reaching here was that the Indians have been cornered at the base of Henry mountain and that they will have to scale a steep cliff to make their escape. This report was not confirmed.

With the arrival at Blanding of United States Marshal J. Ray Ward, the federal government for the first time entered the situation. It was considered possible here that he might endeavor through friendly Navajo Indians to bring about a bloodless termination of the "uprising."

Await Word From Washington

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Decision as to whether the United States army air service will join in the hunt for the band of Piute Indians on the "war path" in southeastern Utah was awaited from Washington at Crissey field.

Governor Mabey of Utah requested the use of a plane to assist in running down the Indians and his request was referred to Washington. Five planes equipped with machine guns are in readiness should they be ordered to the scene by Washington.

Foster Defense Loses Point in Legal Fight

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 23.—Efforts of the defense in the case of William Z. Foster, accused by Michigan of violating its syndicalism laws, to show by deposition that "K-97," chief state witness, was a communist who urged overthrow of the government were defeated today when the court ruled such testimony inadmissable.

"K-97" is Francis Morrow, government investigator, who testified he saw Foster at the communist party convention in Bridgman, Mich., last summer.

Will Halt Smuggling Of Alien Immigrants

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The startling statement that approximately 1000 aliens are smuggled into the United States every day, was made this afternoon by Secretary of Labor Davis in announcing that immigration officials at all ports and along the Mexican and Canadian borders had been ordered to adopt more stringent methods for barring illegal entry of foreigners.

Gladys Walton Goes to Jail on Speed Charge

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—Gladys Walton, motion picture star, was given a three-day jail sentence here today when she appeared before Judge Chambers on a speeding charge. She was allowed permission to go home for more clothes before beginning her sentence this afternoon.

PLANES HOP OFF

FRENCH PLAN SPURNED BY GERMANY

Cuno Rejects Proposal to Internationalize Strip of Rhineland

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service

BERLIN, March 23.—Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno of Germany rejects the proposal for an internationalized strip of territory in the Rhineland between France and Germany. Furthermore, he declared he would never sign any agreement with France for a reparations settlement until he knew that Germany would carry it out to the letter.

These statements were contained in an exclusive interview given to International News Service by the chief of the German government before he left for Munich to consult with Bavarian officials.

When the subject of "internationalization in the Rhineland" was mentioned, Chancellor Cuno said with great emphasis:

"That is absolutely out of the question. It is not for us now, nor ever will be for us, a subject of the discussion. Reparations—the amount and nature of paying it—are subjects for discussion, but when France speaks of 'internationalization' she touches upon a territorial question and encroaches upon the sacred national entity of the German state. We will never listen to any such proposals."

Chancellor Cuno reiterated that he would never put his signature upon anything that could not be kept and fulfilled.

"Has not M. Poincare, has not France, has not the entire world learned by this time the shallow value of promises made under duress, ultimatums and threats of every kind and under violent punitive measures?

Threat of Invasion

"The whole of the last four years have been filled with such extorted promises. Over all the threats and ultimatums has always hovered the menace of Ruhr invasion.

"What was the London ultimatum other than a series of promises secured from us through the threat of Ruhr occupation? I happened to be in America at that time. Practically all my friends there with whom I had long frank talks approved our acceptance of the London ultimatum because, they argued, subsequent events would prove to the whole world the impossibility of fulfilling the obligations. This, too, was undoubtedly the guiding thought of those who signed 'on the dotted line' on Germany's behalf.

"But what has been the invariable result of this policy of ultimatums? Whenever the time came that our utter incapacity for fulfillment was proved, France would raise the hue and cry which echoed throughout the world: 'Germany will not fulfill.' It was not said that we could not pay but that we would not. In the meantime, the world—even those who tried to look at the matter fairly and with open eyes—had forgotten that impossible promises had literally been forced upon us.

"That is how Germany gradually gained the evil reputation of being a 'welcher'—a nation that does not keep its promises."

County Farm Inmate Is Burned to Death

MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 23.—Becoming confused in blinding smoke in the Muskogee county poor farm, Anthony Sharpe, an elderly inmate, was trapped in the burning structure early today and burned to death.

Eight other inmates, several crippled, were rescued by A. J. Keeth, custodian. Six persons were burned. Several are in a critical condition. The origin of the fire has not been determined.

I. C. C. Director Quits To Work for Railroad

WASHINGTON, March 23.—John C. Roth, of Tacoma, Wash., has resigned as director of the bureau of service of the Interstate Commerce Commission to become general superintendent of transportation of the Great Northern railway with offices at St. Paul, it was announced this afternoon. William P. Bartell, Wisconsin, was named to succeed Roth.

Rob Bank's Cashier Of $40,000 in Cash

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—Attempts to photograph the spirit of Mrs. Mary Fairfield McVicker, 73, in the First Spiritualist temple, were scheduled to be made late today, following her funeral in the edifice.

Minimum Wage of $10 Per Day May Be Rule in U. S.

DETROIT, Mich., March 23.—A minimum wage of $10 a day for skilled labor may be a regulation in industry twenty years from now, according to Henry Ford, motor car and tractor manufacturer, railway owner and inventor.

Ford believes that American industry by 1943 will be using air freighters and that big manufacturers will own their own water power, railways, coal mines and sources of raw materials.

Labor, Ford asserts, is becoming more and more skilled as new machines are invented to do the work once accomplished by hand. At the same time the workman's life will be easier, owing to the numerous labor saving devices in use.

"Twenty years ago what would people think if a railroad announced it was going to build a good highway adjacent to the tracks?" asked Ford. "But I do not need to answer that question. The people would have thought the railroad officials crazy—crazy to open competition in such a manner. Probably, the officials of the transportation company would have thought a similar thing. Today, to me, it is good business. Industry, twenty years from now, will be using the highways for freight transportation. It will be using the air also."

FORGETS WHERE HE PARKED SON

Flock of Policemen Search Several Hours to Find Boy and Auto

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—Because N. G. Gweltz forgot where he had parked his car, several police squads were kept busy for a few hours searching for it and for Gweltz' 4 year old boy, believed to have been kidnapped when the car was stolen.

The car and child were found directly in front of central police station four hours after the report was made, just a half block from where Gweltz had left them.

Hoover Move Boosts Sugar Price, Charge

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The Peoples Legislative Service, which has opened a campaign against "outrageous gambling in sugar," issued a formal statement this afternoon that the only "effect" of Secretary of Commerce Hoover's investigation of the sugar situation "has been to boost prices 2 cents a pound."

Basil M. Manly, director of the service, advised Hoover to stop his investigation while the department of justice conducts an inquiry under the anti-trust laws.

Mrs. Edward Mitchell Succumbs to Burns

Mrs. Edward H. Mitchell, who was burned in a gasoline explosion at her home at 623 North Isabel street on Tuesday afternoon, died at noon today at the Glendale Research hospital, where she had been taken immediately after the accident. Mrs. Mitchell is survived by her husband and two small children, aged respectively two years and two months.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

SUGAR INDEPENDENCY

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—The United States may soon declare its sugar independence, government officials announced today. With prices climbing, world supplies are said to be in the hands of half a dozen speculators and market ridden with foreign combinations and monopolies, this country has a potential sugar production to more than meet domestic demands.

GLENDALE HIGH SCHOOL CELEBRATES JINX DAY WITH RIOT OF COLORS

All Sorts Of Characters Roam About Grounds And In Rooms, With King Fun In Charge

GLENDALE UNION HIGH SCHOOL is celebrating Jinx Day? Bagdad of the Arabian Nights could not have furnished the colorful masquerade which today marked the occurrence of this annual local Mardi Gras. "Hims and "hers" vie with each other in seeing which of the two contrary sexes could outdo the other in the animated panorama. "Movie" make-ups depicted half the characters of fiction—and a lot of additional characters who have not yet been created unless by the cubist style of literature. Natives of all nationalities including the Scandinavian, rubbed elbows with each other with great care so that the grease paint would not come off. The horde included English dudes, "sunburnt" Irishmen, Spanish toreadors, gypsies, Americans and bootleggers and representatives of a number of nations overlooked by the Versailles treaty.

Glendale began to sit up and take notice about 7:30 o'clock this morning when little children, some of them only six feet tall, attired in ginghams, calicoes, corduroys and knee breeches circulated through the streets on their way to hunt up the jinx. From that hour forth "this here town" has been one continuous riot of mirth.

To make the matter worse, the high school faculty, not content to let well enough alone, tonight intends to put on a "vod-vil" show which is guaranteed to cause Mr. and Mrs. Jinks to laugh themselves to death.

Black and Yellow

The Gold Dust Twins, Graham Latta and "Bob" Leyhe, were among the first on the scene this morning. In black tights and bright yellow shirts they had a fine time scampering around, although by noon their complexions had changed from a midnight black to a rich mahogany.

Stanley Johns was on the job as an enlarged edition of Sis Hopkins' big brother. A pair of pink and white checkered rompers served the purpose very well.

A shirt so loud that it "would knock you dead in the dark" was the principal feature of the costume worn by Eugene Wernette. Yes, he wore trousers, too.

"Tony, the Wop, proved by none other than Harold Brewster, head of the dramatic department. Blue corduroy trousers, blue flannel shirt, bright red scarf, red neck piece, brown Corsican hat, and immense brass earrings completed his outfit.

Peter L. Ferry Gets Sparr Heights Paving

The Barnum-Walters Company, the developers of Sparr Heights, announces that the contract for the construction of the boulevard, Verdugo road, that runs entirely through this splendid tract, has been awarded to Peter L. Ferry of Glendale. The contract for the grading and surfacing of Ocean View avenue has also been awarded to Mr. Ferry.

The work will begin next week, and when it is completed, there will be a magnificent double highway, 126 feet wide, traversing Sparr Heights.

J. B. Smith of Glendale has been given the contract for the plastering of the interior and exterior of the Community Centre building in accordance with the settled policy of the Barnum-Walters Company to have all their development work done by Glendale firms, when possible. As this development will probably cover a period of two years, it means a large amount of busineess for Glendale.

Piggly Wiggly Shorts Get Settlement Offer

NEW YORK, March 23. — Shorts in the stock of Piggly Wiggly, a chain grocery stores corporation, can settle at $100 a share, Clarence Saunders, president of Piggly Wiggly, who engineered a corner, announced today.

2 DROWNED AS ICE JAM BREAKS

Torrent Sweeps Rich Farming Land, Spreading Death and Destruction

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, March 23.—Two persons are believed drowned today, several others are missing, hundreds of head of livestock were lost, and property damage running into hundreds of thousands of dollars resulted from an ice gorge flood in the Missouri valley bottoms in this vicinity.

Efforts to break up the ice jam by dropping dynamite from airplanes were unsuccessful.

C. K. Johnson, a farmer, driven from his home by the flood, returned in an effort to save some of his livestock. He was caught by the rising waters and swept to his death.

A farm hand employed on a ranch adjoining the Johnson place also is believed to have been drowned.

Brassfield island, a rich farm plot in the middle of the river, is entirely under water. Hundreds of head of pure bred cattle—prize stock that have made the island famous at livestock exhibitions—were carried away in the swirling waters.

FLEE HOMES TO ESCAPE FLOODS

Black River Valley Scene of Much Damage to Stock, Is Report

HOXIE, Ark., March 23.—Persons living in the Black river valley fled their homes today to escape from the waters of the river, which has reached a crest of twenty-two feet, the highest in many years.

Much livestock, especially hogs and small cattle, have perished. All rowboats and motorboats along the river are being used in rescuing marooned families.

Steel Trust to Run Ships Through Canal

WASHINGTON, March 23. — The United States Steel corporation may continue to operate its own steamships through the Panama canal, the interstate commerce commission decided today.

The decision was rendered at the request of the corporation in the case of the Isthmian Steamship Lines, as a result of charges of the Luckenbach Steamship company that by the operations of Isthmian ships the steel corporation has an unfair advantage over other companies.

Young Moyse has been elected captain of next fall's football squad at the Pasadena institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hobson of Corning left today for that city after having visited several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kettles of 120 North Adams street. Before leaving Glendale Mr. Hobson announced that he will dispose of his property in the northern town at an early date and will return here permanently.

Mrs. Alan Weyfield of Los Angeles was a visitor yesterday at the home of Mrs. C. A. White of West Palmer avenue.

Mrs. Gaither R. Harrison, of Portland, Oregon, is the guest of Miss Carol A. Duncan, of 1607 South San Fernando Road.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brown and children, of 634 North Howard street, were the guests yesterday of Henry Sampson at Long Beach.

Miss Annabelle Robinson and Mortimer Callaway, both of San Dimas, were recent guests of Anna Merriken of 371 West Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hammond, of 110 East Cypress street were dinner guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Frisby of Hollywood, old friends from Ft. Scott, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. John McKay, who recently sold their home on S. San Fernando road, are occupying the garage at the new stucco bungalow which is almost ready for occupancy, at 323 El Bonita street.

Frank Munger of 1212 East Windsor road returned to Glendale yesterday after an absence of two months, during which time he has visited with friends in Bellville, Kan. Mr. Munger was formerly a resident of that city.

Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Cornell and daughter Miss Sarah Cornell of Pasadena were guests yesterday at the Episcopal Guild luncheon. Later in the afternoon they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Trotter, 801 East Orange Grove avenue.

Miss June Hurlbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hurlbert of 348 West Park avenue, is rapidly recovering from an illness which has confined her to her home for the past week. She will return to her studies at the local high school following next week's Easter vacation.

Clark Christy, Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Christy of 109 East Chestnut street, is seriously ill at the home of his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Brice of 304 North Kenwood street. The little one's condition this morning was announced as being slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Forest, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lang and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Yonkers, all of this city, will leave late tonight for San Diego, where they will spend the week-end. Sunday they will go to Tia Juana, where they will attend the annual Coffroth Handicap, the most important race of the season.

DEATHS, FUNERALS

HENRY S. WEST

In the death this morning, Friday, March 23, 1923, of Henry S. West at his home at 121 West Park avenue, California, loses a resident of thirty-seven years, and Glendale loses a well-known resident and prominent member of the N. P. Banks post, G. A. R.

Mr. West was born in 1840 in the state of Ohio. During the Civil War he served with the Twenty-ninth Iowa and was held prisoner for ten months in a prison in Tyler, Texas. A wound that he received during his war service resulted in his having frail health. His last illness lasted eight weeks.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nina W. West, and two daughters, Mrs. Hartley Shaw of 212 West Park avenue, and Mrs. Iva W. Frost of Los Angeles; and by two sisters, Mrs. Irene Barbour of Claremont, and another in Denver, Colorado.

Mr. West had lived in California for thirty-seven years, most of which was spent in Los Angeles. He had lived in Glendale three years.

In addition to being a member of the G. A. R. Mr. West was a member of the Congregational church, and greatly interested in the new church building.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning in the Congregational church. Rev. C. M. Calderwood will officiate. Burial will be private.

The Jewel City Undertaking company is in charge of arrangements.

FREDERICK KERCHOFF

Frederick Kerchoff died Thursday, March 22, 1923, at the hotel at La Crescenta. Mr. and Mrs. Kerchoff had been touring California and had reservations to leave yesterday morning for their home in Devil's Lake, N. D.

However, Mr. Kerchoff was taken suddenly ill with heart failure and his death followed. He was 76 years old and a member of the Elks lodge at Devil's Gate.

Mrs. Kerchoff left last night with her husband's body for her home, where funeral services and burial will take place.

The Jewel City Undertaking company was in charge of the shipment of Mr. Kerchoff's body.

H. E. KREHBIEL

The death of H. E. Krehbiel, music editor and critic of the New York Tribune, author and lecturer, occurred suddenly Tuesday, March 20, 1923, in New York.

Mr. Krehbiel was the brother of Mrs. Frank S. Morgan of 124 East Acacia avenue, and Mrs. C. F. Kuhlne of 111 West Maple street.

Social Events

Hospital Auxiliary

Following an address by Mrs. Albert Crutcher, president of the Children's Hospital society, before the Thursday Afternoon club, that organization called a meeting last Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1243 South Brand boulevard, for the purpose of organizing an auxiliary to that society in Glendale.

A number responded to the call and plans were made to complete an organization which would include all Glendale. At present a number of clubs, societies and individuals contribute to the hospital funds, and the idea is to combine and increase these contributions and support a bed or possibly a room in the hospital, which does not restrict its services to Los Angeles.

A temporary organization to carry out this plan was formed with Mrs. E. V. Bacon as temporary chairman and Mrs. E. J. Morgan, secretary. A second meeting will be held early in April. In the meantime various clubs and organizations will be asked to send representatives to that meeting and if possible unite the individual efforts into something worth while and a credit to the community.

Delphians Meet

The Alpha Delphian chapter of Glendale held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Marshall, 525 South Central, Thursday morning, March 22, at 10 o'clock, Mrs. E. D. Yard presiding; Mrs E. A. Bode, secretary.

A very interesting and instructive program on "Roman History" was presented by the Lotus group, Mrs. Charles Marshall, leader.

The numbers given were: "Roman History to B. C. 509," by Mrs. H. W. Yarick; "Roman Ideals, as Shown in Macaulay's 'Lays of Ancient Rome'," by Mrs. B. Manbert; "The Struggle of the Plebs for Political Rights," by Mrs. P. O. Lucas; "Roman Houses," by Mrs. J. Zinke; "Roman Amusements and Diversions," by Mrs. P. C. Mason; "The Temple of Vesta and the Vestal Virgins," by Mrs. R. W. Russell; "Pompeii, Roman Seaport," by Mrs. D. W. Stephenson, and "Conclusion," by Mrs. Charles Marshall.

After the meeting, luncheon was enjoyed and in the afternoon quite a number of the members attended the assembly meeting in the Ebell club house, Los Angeles.

The next chapter meeting will be held the morning of April 26, at 10 o'clock, in the public library.

Lunch at Club

Mrs. A. L. Ferguson of 525 North Jackson street, entertained with a luncheon yesterday at the Sunset Canyon Country club.

The decorations were artistically carried out with bright colored spring flowers, dainty favors and place cards marking the places for the guests.

Following the luncheon, Bridge and Mah Jongg were played. Mrs. Harry Lockwood was awarded high score for bridge, and Mrs. T. C. Widmeyer high score for Mah Jongg.

Those present were Mesdames H. R. Boyer, W. R. Newport, T. G. Widmeyer, L. Sherman, W. E. Evans, R. L. McCourt, A. D. Peart, Harry Lockwood, all of Glendale, and Mesdames J. W. McKenna, Harold Graham, Paul Stewart and Vernon Phelps, of Los Angeles, and the hostess, Mrs. A. L. Ferguson.

D. A. R. Are Guests

The board of directors of the General Richard Gridley chapter, D. A. R., were entertained Thursday at a 1 o'clock luncheon by Miss Ida D. Myers, member of the local board and also state and national chairman of conservation and thrift, at her home at 1607 South San Fernando Road.

A yellow color scheme, with daffodils centering the table and dainty yellow bon-bon baskets filled with tiny Easter eggs, and Easter place cards, carried out the Easter motif.

Those present were Mrs. C. W. Houston, Mrs. J. A. Crawford, Mrs. S. C. Leppelman, Mrs. W. N. Rathbun, Mrs. T. W. Preston, Mrs. S. H. Butterfield, Mrs. Walter Lyman and the hostess, Miss Ida D. Myers.

Musical Affair

Another benefit affair to raise money for the piano fund of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, will be given next Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. L. E. Richardson and Miss Ida D. Myers at 1856 South Brand boulevard.

The program will be given by Miss Flora Phyllis Kirkpatrick, soprano; Lucile Allen, violinist; Winifred Parker, accompanist; a dramatic reader from the Emerson school, Boston, and Mrs. J. A. Wright, pianist.

Spring Luncheon

Mrs. Robert S. McMullen of 535 North Louise street was hostess yesterday at a pretty spring luncheon. The table was centered with dainty Cecil Bruner roses. Cards were placed for Mrs. Albert F. Pickles, Mrs. Joseph E. Foy, Mrs. Herbert Ray Eller, Mrs. C. E. Snively, Mrs. Marie Petty, Mrs. Gustaf A. Lavison, Mrs. Raymond H. Kimball and the hostess.

♣ ♣ ♣

Missionary Meet

The Missionary society of the Tropico Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. S. E. Brown, 1239 South Maryland avenue, yesterday afternoon.

The regular business meeting was opened by the newly elected President, Mrs. H. B. Goldsborough. Later in the afternoon, Mrs. H. S. Wilcox gave an interesting talk on "The Immigrant."

For Mrs. Brown

A miscellaneous shower was held on Wednesday night, March 21, for Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brown, at the home of Mrs. Orpha M. Brown, 534 West Doran street.

Mrs. Alvin Brown was formerly Miss Josephine Emery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery of 329 North Kenwood street, while her husband is the son of Mrs. Orpha M. Brown. The couple are now living at 102 South Brand boulevard.

The decorations were particular beautiful, being carried out in green and white with orange blossoms, sweet peas, carnations and ferns.

A striking feature was the sudden appearance of a gorgeous float decked in orange blossoms, in its center a great green hat into which the "shower" of presents fell.

The float was drawn by little Miss Bobbie Morrow and Master Sonny Olson. Bobbie was dressed in a pretty white dress and made a lovely figure, with her contrasting black hair, while Sonny, golden-haired and sailor-suited, with streaming green ribbons, was equally impressive.

Refreshments in green and white further carried out the St. Patrick motif, green and white cake being served with green ice cream, little Japanese rice cakes with fortune-reading slips of paper inside adding the last touch of completeness to the brilliant and happy occasion.

Those present were Misses Goldie B. Young, Helen Lynd, Olive Belle Emery, Eunice and Agnes Caldwell, Clara Parker, Eleanor Brice, Elizabeth Brown, Mesdames Dr. Hurt, Phoebe Borthick, Franklin Shaw, O. S. Halverson, S. A. Young, R. C. Olson, G. H. Brown, Clarence Kalbaugh, Meredith Sipla, Robert Morrow, Glenn Porter, J. Rhea Baker, J. M. Blakenship, J. M. Eyerick, Wallace Fryer, Frank Fanta, E. U. Emery, Owen Emery, Jack Eaton, Dave Parker, F. W. Harper, Joseph Bellew, W. S. Caldwell, little Miss Bobbie Morrow and Master Sonny Olson, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brown; the groom's mother, Mrs. Orpha M. Brown, and her mother, Mrs. S. V. Lynd, the grandmother of the groom, who is visiting from Ironton, Ohio, and will remain in Glendale until her grandson graduates from the Union high school this spring.

Friends Guests

Margaret Byerly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Byerly of 1016 Florence Place, was the hostess yesterday to a number of her school friends at an Easter party.

All the decorations were carried out in pink and white. The table was artistically decorated in pink and white crepe paper and quaint little dolls dressed in pink crepe paper served as favors. Tiny pink baskets filled with candies were used and little bunnies marked the places for the little guests.

During the afternoon games were played, one being the donkey game in which Helen Louise Porpeus won first prize and Helen Fraley second. Mildred Allen was awarded first prize in a guessing game and Evelyn Martin consolation.

Later in the afternoon, Mrs. Byerly served the refreshments which were also carried out in the pink and white color scheme.

Those present were: Helen Louise Porpeus, Evelyn Martin, Mildred Allen, Dorothy Thedaker, Dorothy Archer, Dorothy Parker, Rose Mary Gilhuley, Loraine Palmer, Dorothy Oldham, Dorothy Plummer, Meryle Franklin, Louise Hill and the hostess Margaret Byerly.

♣ ♣ ♣

Guests of Guild

Dr. and Mrs. George Cornell and Miss Sarah Cornell of Pasadena, were guests yesterday at the St. Mark's Guild luncheon at noon.

Following the luncheon the Guild meeting was held with Mrs. B. O. Holbrook presiding. An unfortunate happening at the meeting yesterday was Mrs. A. A. Bassett falling and badly spraining her hip. She was taken at once to her home, where it was reported this morning that she was resting as comfortably as could be expected.

♣ ♣ ♣

Luncheon for Friends

A very delightful luncheon was given on Wednesday by Mrs. C. T. Van Etten of 476 South Madison avenue, Pasadena, the guests being old friends and neighbors in Glendale. Those enjoying the day were Mrs. C. L. Thedaker and daughter Betty Lee, of 338 El Bonita and Mrs. Geo. N. Adams of 335 El Bonita, Glendale, and Mrs. Arthur Payne of Pasadena, formerly of Eulalia street, Glendale.

Cards and Music

An Easter card party and musicale will be given by Mrs. McNaughton Barnes, Mrs. James Cunningham, Mrs. F. A. Archer and Mrs. Roy Bancroft, at the home of the latter, 121 West Eulalia street, on the afternoon of April 4 from 2 to 5 o'clock, for the benefit of the Thursday Afternoon club building fund.

Mrs. John W. Weeks Is Seized With Illness

BRUNSWICK, Ga., March 23.—Mrs. John W. Weeks, wife of the secretary of war, is desperately ill aboard the yacht Everglades, which put in here yesterday on account of Mrs. Weeks' condition.

Secretary Weeks declined to comment on his wife's condition except to say that "Mrs. Weeks is very ill."

RUSSIAN EXILES STARVE IN PARIS

Hope Is Nearly Abandoned For Restoration of Czar's Regime

By ALICE LANGLIER,
For International News Service

PARIS, March 24.—Each passing day sees increasing misery among the Russian colony in Paris.

In the French capital that they love so well there are thousands of exiles dragging out a dreary existence, all the more difficult because they must hide their miseries. They have used up their fortunes as well as their hopes as times grow worse instead of better.

These Russians could not believe in the Revolution. The lesson of 1906 had served to no purpose, and one fine day they saw the old edifice of the Czars, gilded and imposing, crumble into a dust heap.

Then the exodus began. The "richissimes" decided to take a little holiday, a forced one, of course; but then France is not a dull place, with its fine hotels and country villas, its good restaurants and fine champagne. "We will wait until the skirmish blows over," they said, and, alas! they are still waiting—those who have been able to keep soul and body together during the long years.

Aristocrats Work

One meets them in every line of work. Generals and colonels of the Czar's army have become chauffeurs of taxicabs; a high lady of court is making fascinating dolls for the Parisiennes to carry; an important officer of foreign affairs is selling groceries; a Consul-general, formerly at Marseilles, is now working in a little bookshop, and a famous member of the Yacht club of Petrograd is unloading merchandise from the boats at Marseilles.

As best they knew how, these Russians have organized their pitiful lives, and they live as the poor among the poor in common, miserable quarters. One room must often suffice for a family, and the meals are scanty—often mere tea and bread. They have sold everything — their jewels, their rich furs and all unnecessary clothing.

But fortunate are those who are able to eke out an existence in this manner. Many have no talents or special capacities, and work is scarce. France, too, has many mouths to fill.

Police Seek Old Flame Of Murdered Model

NEW YORK, March 23.—A new figure has appeared in the investigation of the mysterious murder of Dorothy King, "Broadway moth," whose body was found a week ago in her flat, bruised and blackened and saturated with chloroform. Police began an international search for an "old flame" of the slain girl—a man who was madly in love with her and who beat her when he found she was scattering her affections.

The hunt was said to reach into Canada. Detectives described the latest suspect as a former "bucket shop broker."

That association was in 1920 when "Dottie pursued a gay career on Broadway under the name of Enid Martens.

Official Gives List Of Rail Depredations

HARRISON, Ark., March 23.—A long list of depredations on the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad, including dynamiting of bridges, damages to locomotives and other acts preceding mob rule here was revealed by J. C. Murray, general manager of the railroad, to a legislative committee in session here. The committee will investigate the violence occurring some time ago, which culminated in the lynching of one rail striker and whipping of several others.

OIL IS CAUSE OF MANY TROUBLES

No Longer Poured on Troubled Waters, It Is, Itself, Root of Difficulties

LONDON, March 24.—"Pouring oil upon the troubled waters," is now only a phrase in international diplomacy.

Oil no longer means peace and tranquility in Europe; it means trouble. The very mention of oil brings about a situation which is delicate, if not strained.

There is no single element in international diplomacy which causes more trouble than oil.

There have been many predictions of a future war for the oil supplies of the world, and these predictions have been laughed at, but as time goes on it appears that oil threatens more international difficulties than any other single element.

Wants to Quit

Great Britain wants to withdraw from Mesopotamia—at least there is a clamor for such withdrawal. However, there are great potential oil deposits in Mesopotamia, and there are interests which are using their utmost power to prevent these deposits from slipping out of the control of England. "We will not remain in Mesopotamia at the behest of any oil interest," Bonar Law recently told the House of Commons. It remains to be seen whether he can carry out his purpose.

In Palestine and Mosul are further oil deposits, which are now under the control of the British, although American interests have been promised equal rights of development. There are efforts to secure British withdrawal from Palestine, but again there is strong opposition from certain interests.

Eastern Galicia, the Ukraine and the Caucasus regions have rich oil deposits. Within a few months the world may see a great diplomatic—and perhaps military—struggle for the possession of this territory. There is little reason to doubt that if small nations in these regions are given autonomy it will be autonomy under the friendly auspices of some of the big powers.

Russ Concessions

There are constant reports coming out of Russia concerning negotiations for oil concessions. Oil is one of the prize plums which the Soviet holds out in exchange for recognition.

No diplomatic conference is held in Europe these days without oil figuring as one of the chief bones of contention. At San Remo, at Genoa, at The Hague, at Lausanne and everywhere the diplomats have met the spectre of oil has hovered over the conference.

Whenever peace threatens to settle down upon Europe someone rakes up an oil feud, and the war clouds gather.

Yes, "oil upon the troubled waters," is only a phrase.

London Expedition to Hunt for David's Tomb

LONDON, March 24.—An attempt to discover the tomb of David is the chief object of an expedition which will shortly set out from London for Jerusalem.

The work, which is being financed by the Palestine Exploration fund, contributed to by American, British and French organizatitons, will be supervised by Professor Macallister, of Trinity college, Dublin.

Excavations will take place on Mount Ophal, the original stronghold of what was known as the City of David, and an attempt will be made to plan out the city.

This service is intended to furnish ample, adequate, safe and modern transportation at reduced rates, between Los Angeles and Glendale, and applicant further intends to supplement this service with ample and sufficient local service to make a complete and unified system of adequate, modern transportation.

"The Pacific Electric is fully aware of the fact that C. D. Gulick's application, now pending before the railroad commission, was continued for hearing to April 9, and the Pacific Electric is also aware that tifere has already been introduced sufficient evidence to prove a lack of sufficient transportation between the city of Glendale and the city of Los Angeles, and that more than likely C. D. Gulick will be granted permission to install the motor bus system as per his application now pending before the railroad commission. Therefore, they have assumed the same tactics identical to those used by the Pacific Electric at the time Glendale, as a city, was making application for permission to operate motor busses between the city of Los Angeles and the city of Glendale, which was, at that time, to circulate petitions among the citizens of Glendale for permission to install motor bus service in Glendale, telling the approached and prospective signers that it was unnecessary for the cty of Glendale to install motor busses between Los Angeles and Glendale, and that the Pacific Electric would furnish all the motor bus service that was necessary to give this city adequate transportation.

Bears Old Date

"Your honorable body will remember that one of the petitions filed with you recently bears an old date, which corresponds with the time this city was struggling to install this service, and that no doubt a large percentage of the signers were secured at that time. Therefore, it would appear that the Pacific Electric is now using, as above stated, or attempting to use, the same old subterfuge that they, at that time, attempted to use to hoodwink the citizens into believing that they are now ready and willing to provide all transportation necessary to meet the demands of Glendale citizens.

"This applicant feel sure that your honorable body will not be deceived by such crude tactics, for it is a well-known fact that the Pacific Electric has not installed, as they promised the signers of the old petition, all of the necessary motor busses to provide ample and sufficient service locally for the citizens of Glendale, when the city of Glendale first made the attempt to procure motor bus service for its citizens. Therefore, it is not reasonable to expect that they will now keep their promise any better than they have done in the past, and be sure of one thing—their activities at this time are positively an attempt to keep this applicant, C. D. Gulick, from procuring a permit as prayed for before the railroad commission, to operate motor bus service between Los Angeles and Glendale at reduced rates, and not because they desire to operate cars locally in the city of Glendale.

Regulated Monopoly

"This applicant further desires to call your attention to the fact that the railroad commission of the state of California has, evidently at the instigation of the public utilities of California, attempted to carry out a policy throughout the state of California, in granting what is commonly called 'regulated monopoly,' which was to have given the citizens of California reasonable rates and adequate service. I ask you, gentlemen, is it not a fact that this so-called policy of regulated monopoly is a total faiure? Has it not failed to give the citizens of California adequate transportation and adequate telephone service at reasonable rates, and is it not a fact that Glendale, particularly, has been discriminated against by the monopoly of the two above-named kinds of public utilities, to the tune of hundreds of thousands of dollars in the past few years, as against what may have been in the event there had been, instead of regulated monopoly, a limited amount of regulated, fair, clean and honest competition?

"The honorable mayor and city council of the city of Glendale are all keen-minded, clear-thinking business men of wide experience and are capable of drawing conclusions as to whether or not the safety of the public in the matter of rates and service in all public utilities, has been regulated where monopoly has been granted, or whether or not clean, fair competition is and will be the only means of safeguarding the rights of the citizens of California in the matter of rates and service.

"Trusting your honorable bod will consider applicant's presen application and will, tonight forthwith issue permits to appli cant without further delay, w beg to remain,

"Respectfully yours,
"JONES, WILSON & STEPHENSON,
"Attorneys for C. D. Gulick."

Girls Of High School In Varied Jinx Day Costumes

DAME FASHION was at her best and worst on the Glendale Union high school campus today, when women faculty members and school girls appeared in the extreme ultra fashions of all ages and classes. Flappers of all centuries, happy little country girls, old maids, gypsies and countless other types of femininity vied with each other for first place on the eccentric costume list.

Dignified teachers were costumed as "kids" and many of the school girls were transformed by gray hair and long dresses into grandmas and old maids. The "kid" costume seemed much in favor, as did also the small town girl masquerade.

Among the various masquerades were noted:

Viola Hail, appearing as a Japanese maid in a gay yellow flowered kimono.

Marjorie Snow in a clever costume that might have been worn by Juliet herself.

Grace Yarbrough presenting a humorous sight in a rag costume.

Eleanor Rich garbed perfectly for a women's suffrage parade.

Pauline Rich as a small town flapper.

Ruth Eddings was another of the happy little country girls.

Doris Magarrell appeared as the spirit of St. Valentine, wearing a red heart costume.

Irene Parker portrayed "Patches".

Miss Jennielu Norris, a faculty member, was a stately Spanish senorita.

Evelyn Curren was numbered among the extremely dressed flappers.

Evelyn Sample was a gayly dressed gypsy.

Ramson Johnson wore a bright Spanish costume.

Evelyn Thomas was very modern in her costume of Queen Tut.

Dorothy McLaughlin was dressed in a gay pink dress.

Jean Welsh was very precisely dressed as an old maid.

Ethel Holland was somewhat of a paradox, wearing a combination of a Japanese and Irish costume.

Lois Strother was a laughing Japanese maid.

Kathleen Taylor wore a costume giving a dizzy futuristic effect.

Florence Merriken was another of the care-free gypsies.

Alice Huston had just arrived from a small town to see the big city, and she was dressed in her Sunday best.

Helen Pierce was a shy little girl.

Mary Byrd wore one of the most brilliant costumes. A gay black and orange creation, rather on the oriental style.

Viola Wood was a happy-hearted, brilliantly dressed gypsy.

Amelia Vorwerk was a French maid, cleverly gowned in the conventional black and white.

Jewel Mantooth portrayed "grandma," with her white hair, black dress, little hat and tiny shawl.

May Jacobson was primly dressed as an old maid.

Varene Peet was an ideal Sis Hopkins.

Marie Finney took her place among the brightly dressed gypsy band.

Doris Osmun wore a vari-colored dancing costume.

Katherine Guthrie was another in a bright futuristic costume.

Mildred Osmun wore a clever costume, that would make a hit in a good comedy.

Elizabeth Phillippi impersonated Sis Hopkins and the impersonation was very clever.

Dorothy Kendall was another of Sis Hopkins' doubles.

Ruth Hudson wore an Irish costume.

Grace Jennings appeared as a Scotch lassie.

Bernice Hand greeted her friends as a Yama Yama character.

Esther Acosta was most becomingly dressed as a Spanish dancer.

Edna Chapman might have stepped out of a fashion book of 1860. Her old-fashioned costume was cleverly made and very becoming.

Marjorie Segali was a little dancing girl in yellow and black.

Tessie Wilson was a typical westerner, being dressed as a cow-girl.

Lucile Suk wore a yellow and black clown costume.

Frieda Davis appeared as "Rags."

Marie Hearnshaw was a flapper.

Margaret Wilson was an Irish woman.

Alice Parker was a little school girl, carrying her Teddy bear.

Wanda Morrow was also a little school girl, and she, too, brought her Teddy bear to school with her.

Rose Schwarzkopf was another little school girl.

Mabel Graham was a spring maid, in a pale pink and green costume.

Gertrude Barnard was a little girl in a pinafore.

Eloene Truitt wore a peasant costume to portray a starving Armenian.

Mrs. Fannie Sloane, a faculty member, joined the kid group in a kid dress and big pink hair ribbon.

Mary Agnes Cobb was dressed as a little girl.

Evelyn Matten was another little girl.

Miss Bessie L. Field, another faculty member, chose a little girl costume.

Elizabeth Avent made an ideal colored Aunt Jemima.

Julia Hull wore a costume of a Red Cross nurse.

Esther Jones was a gypsy.

Charlotte Cleveland also wore a gypsy costume.

Catherine Parker wore a little girl's dress.

Evelyn Thomas was a charming little gypsy in red.

Miki Hirashima, who last year appeared as a Japanese, today wore a varied costume, enhanced by a string of small oranges about her neck.

Helen Boyd was a cowgirl.

Vera Bowler was dressed in a white dress decorated with black clubs.

Vivian O'Neill was a little girl.

Dolly Maurer wore a dress made from Persian figured material.

Phyllis Nelson wore a kid dress.

Thelma Thomas was a pretty Colonial maid.

Virginia Hicks was a gypsy.

Rose Jennings wore a gypsy costume.

Josephine Giles was a little girl.

Frances West was an extremely dressed flapper.

Gladys Rhodes carried off honors as the only wild woman on the campus. She attracted attention on her way to school and after she reached the campus she received wide recognition for her fierce costume and fiercer manner.

Helen Wray was a gypsy girl.

Juanita Ball was another with an original costume. She was dressed as a blushing bride.

Catherine Day was a Spanish girl.

Miss Edith Soper, of the faculty, was an old woman.

Miss Knight, of the faculty, portrayed an Indian maid.

Miss Ballard, of the faculty, received honors for her "sheik" costume.

Ramona Ryan wore a gay Oriental costume.

Helen Neel might have just stepped from a modern cabaret in her cunning black velvet trousers and white silk blouse.

Miss Shattuck, of the faculty, was a little girl.

Gertrude Skelly appeared as a gypsy.

Josephine Farnham wore a perfect Hula Hula costume.

Alice Farrow was her twin in another Hula Hula costume.

Margaret Knight was a little Indian girl.

Margaret Jernegan wore a heart costume.

Elsie Forsyth had an entirely original make-up, wearing a gray wig and long black gown of a scholar.

Caroline Gommel was a gay Pierette.

Dorothy McGinnis and Charlotte Winsell were little ragamuffins, and brought their coaster along.

Lyda Eubanks was a lady of 1892 or thereabouts.

Marjorie Jolliffee also went back across the years for a costume, appearing in a creation of the latter part of the Nineteenth century.

Onis Danielson wore a harem costume.

Miss Corry, of the faculty, was a happy cittle country girl.

Mary Baxter, in a Chinese outfit, wore the prettiest costume on the campus.

Florence McCoubrey personified "Polly."

Marian Duey was the "Goose Girl."

Margaret Farmer portrayed "Spring."

Miss Hunter, of the faculty, was a gypsy.

Miss Seeley, of the faculty, appeared as a school girl in blue skirt, middy and hair ribbon.

Miss Crandall, of the faculty, was an old-fashioned lady.

Marion Mair was a lady of perhaps 1900.

Star Witness in Red Trial Loses Memory

ST. JOSEPH, March 23.—The perfect memory which Francis A. Morrow displayed under direct examination in the syndicalism trial here of William Z. Foster, radical chieftain, deserted him today when he submitted to cross-examination by defense counsel.

"I can't quite recollect," or "I couldn't say that" were frequent answers to questions made by Morrow, government investigator "-97."

Divorce Ends Unique Wedded Partnership

CHICAGO, March 23.—A divorce granted here to Mrs. Delia J. Ackley from Carl J. Ackley terminated a unique partnership that had carried them together through twenty-one years of life into the jungles of Africa and onto the lecture platform. Both were hunters of big game, known to three continents.

Although Ackley filed the bill originally, he did not contest his wife's suit. A financial agreement was reported.

High School Boys Cause Of Riot With Strange Clothing

Loren Patrick who disported himself upon the greensward of the campus in green jerkins, tan boots and a leather vest.

Allan Pollock took the part of "Jiggs - Before - Maggie - Over-Took-Him." He was dressed in a cream-color flannel suit, a bright red vest, and a wall-paper tie. To cap the climax or the brain, as the case may be, was a red wig.

Coach Eugene Wolfe wore the blue of a naval musician. He became "The Peacock of Glendale's Navy."

As a farmer, Floyd Kinnan, who was dressed in khaki trousers, tan shirt and big straw hat carefully held upon his head by an elastic under his chin exhibited evidences of just having come off the grange.

"Buster Brown" in the person of Merritt Evans spent a large part of the day making mischief. Despite the fact that he was obliged to keep his half hose from coming down, he succeeded in coming to school as usual on a motorcycle.

Dixon Fullen, instructor in the commercial department, masqueraded about as a laboring man. His outfit of blue overalls, tan shirt, red bandanna handkerchief and Panama hat was that of "Agricola Americani."

"Capt. Piston Rings" Howard Smith was one of the boldest of the pirate crew which attempted to scuttle the good ship. With bristling whiskers which made the girls' faces scratch even to look at them he made a character who would have delighted "Bob" L. Stevenson. His ears were weighted down by piston rings and piston rings were used as bracelets. If your cars seem to have lost its insides today, maybe it has been raided by the pirate crew of Capt. Piston Rings.

Burlap hemmed on the bias and cut on the gore, or maybe it was the other way around, formed the exterior covering for Maurice Kennedy. He used a piece of hemp for a tie but depended upon suspenders.

As a "Little-Red-Devil-with-Big-Ideas" Stanley Livingston spent a large part of the day hunting through the inferno for Dante.

Despite the warmth, Howard Rich circulated about in a large treble lined overcoat and carried a traveling bag. He had to—he was a bootlegger. It seems that he had acquired the title when he wiped his face on his boots. He was in great danger of detection and acquired considerable hoarseness from saying "Sash."

The only officer in the Mexican army who is not a general was on parade. He is Lawrence Gallagher and was attired in the white uniform of a corporal of the guard.

Paul Scott played tennis this morning in a clown suit of lavender and yellow.

Morgan N. Smith was dressed in uniform of a bandsman with white striped trousers, blue coat and cap. Paul E. Webb was dressed as a naval officer. Both are members of the faculty.

As convicts in suits of blue and white horizontal stripes, Lee Payne and Laufman Jeter were excused from stone-breaking long enough to attend a few of their classes.

Will White "burned black" was the sight for the mammy of any pickaninny. It is suspected that he will have to wash the black off his barefeet before he goes to bed tonight. Maybe it will give him an excuse to stay up all night.

Irving H. Oliver, business agent of the school, had a hard time making his blue denim trousers retain their crease. He was assisted—that is, in the office work—by Miss Mildred Sawyer who was dressed as Sis Hopkins.

It was quite easy to get Arlin McCormick's number. He carried it with him in the form of an automobile license which was used as a medallion. The only trouble was the fact that it was last year's number plate. He was dressed as "Hank."

As a cowboy, Willard Roberts galloped around the range hunting for cows and colliding at frequent intervals with Toreador Jack Stoeckle who was hunting for the bull.

The most conspicuous feature of Douglas Depew's costume was a waving shirt tail carefully sewed to the rear of his trousers.

In a bright green sweater and overalls, and maybe a pillow or two, and a shock of bright yellow Graham Trafton worked with a will today in order to get money to bring Hulda over from Sweden.

Ellsworth DeParcq was dressed in white trousers, yellow shirt and red sash, as a Spanish cavalier. He had a large time making home-runs on the baseball diamond.

Bert Rolfe, instructor in the auto shop, divided his time between clowning inside and outside the buildings. When he stood in the doorway, he did both at once.

Despite the fact that he wore a placard, which plainly said "blind", Joe Stephens thought it best to attend classes just the same.

As a Spanish Romeo, Donald Fruchy, who wore among other things a rainbow shirt of dainty hues, managed to annoy most where is that dictionary—ukelele. where is that dictionary—ukelele.

David Swaney left the plantation today long enough to claim a share in Uncle Tom's estate.

"John Little John" was played by Charles Burr. He was attired in green as a follower of Robin Hood.

A large bowie knife was carried by Edison Ostrand. He did not need to do so in order to prove that he was a pirate. His bold black and white shirt and red bandana kerchief would have made this evident.

Buster Brown's twin brother was characterized by Walter Dickey. His tweed checkered suit was set off with a flaring windsor tie and a straw hat.

SHIPS WILL DOCK IN BRITISH PORT

U. S. Shipping Board Secures Passenger Facilities In Southampton

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
For International News Service

LONDON, March 23.—British shipping circles are watching with keenest interest the plans of the United States shipping board for the establishment of a regular passenger service between New York and Southampton via Cherbourg. A friendly rivalry for business between the shippinb board lines and the White Star and Cunard services that may result in some slight financial advantage to the transatlantic traveler is forecast.

The shipping board recently completed arrangements for a terminus at Southampton that will enable its passenger liners to dock at that port. At the present time the boats of the United States lines land their passengers at Plymouth, where shipping facilities, from the standpoint of convenience in landing passengers, are not satisfactory. By running its boats into Southampton the United States lines will move up to parity with the British steamship lines in the matter of landing facilities.

Englishman Is Agent

A great part of the arrangements for the Southampton terminus was in the hands of Philip Runciman, general manager of Runciman, Ltd., a leading London firm of shipping agents. Thus British energy has been devoted to the enterprise of bringing American owned and operated steamships into direct and effective competition with the big British concerns.

"The Leviathan, originally the Vaterland, which was taken over by the United States government when America came into the war," said Runciman, "will probably start a weekly service between Southampton and New York via Cherbourg on July 1. She is the last word in fittings and passenger equipment. There may be something as good on the transatlantic service, but there certainly will be nothing better.

Plenty of Business

"There is plenty of room for new passenger business between England and America, and we are out to get it. There has been strenuous competition by other countries for the Leviathan passenger service. Southampton got it because, from a geographical standpoint, Southampton is the ideal transatlantic port.

"The dock accommodation which is being provided by the London & Southwestern Railway company is ideal for our purpose. Shipping accommodations at Southampton will be doubled in the next few years and make Southampton, if it is not that already, one of the finest ports in the world."

The hint of rivalry between existing services and the United States lines was dropped by Runciman when he said:

"We shall be rivals—but friendly rivals—with the White Star and Cunard people. There is plenty of room for us all, and the establishment of our service will bring a healthy draught of competition into the transatlantic passenger service which is all for the good."

KANSAS PASTOR HELP TO CUPID

'Get Acquainted' Club, Object Matrimony, Functions With Excellent Results

By KENNETH HARRIS,
For International News Service

KEATS, Kan., March 24.—Claiming that the traditional joys of single "blessedness" are nothing more than a "hoax" and that the church's first duty is to assist in helpful activities of the community, Rev. C. E. Wood, pastor of the Keats Methodist Church, has organized a "Get Acquainted club"—object, matrimony! Announcements of the club's existence appearing in papers published in nearby towns have broadened its scope until applications for enrollment have been received from every village and hamlet in the Sunflower state.

"It is utter folly for women whose mates have been snatched from them by the 'Grim Reaper' to attempt to weather the vicissitudes of life unaided and alone," Rev. Wood declared. "With this thought uppermost in my mind and solely wishing to make myself useful to this community, the club was started on its career."

The church here, of which Rev Wood is pastor and which is the only church in town, has become a community center.

Widow is Wary

Efforts of Doctor Wood to establish a "matrimonial agency" on a state-wide scale have met with enthusiastic responses from lonely widows and widowers. Some of the letters which the minister has received reveal the practicability of his idea. Here is a sample "S. O. S." from a correspondent at Manhattan, Kansas, which Rev. Wood has in his files:

"Dear Sir:—I have read about your 'Get Acquainted Club' and have wished I were near enough to join. In a town even as large as Manhattan a poor widow who has to work for a living doesn't have much chance to get acquainted. I am ten years the senior of the widower you speak of, but if you have any older men who might write to a lonely poor widow I would feel very grateful. For fear this is only a joke I am not sending my name with this letter, but will watch the paper for an answer and send my name later if desired.

"(Signed) Yours, F."

Her letter was answered through a Manhattan paper, and Rev. Wood promptly received her name and address, he said.

Names Kept Secret

Names of correspondents are shrouded in utmost secrecy, according to Rev. Wood. No name is given to another correspondent, except with the permission of its owner. "Prospects" for matrimony are brought together by having them exchange letters through the minister, without divulgence of names unless satisfactory to both entrants.

An addition to the church in the nature of a large room for indoor sports, community dinners and wholesome recreation of all kinds was recently completed by citizens. It was built wholly by volunteer capital and labor.

"Our actual membership is around 100," Rev Wood explained, "but virtually every man, woman and child in this immediate territory finds in the church a natural meeting place; and they are all welcome.

"There has been evidenced a real need for the Get Acquainted club. It is in keeping with my idea of service to the community, and I am only too willing to sponsor it."

Rev. Wood came to Keats at the close of the World War. He was formerly engaged in "Y" service overseas.

May Name Duke Ruler Of British Dominion

LONDON, March 24. — The Duke of York is to be created either Governor-General of South Africa or Viceroy of India immediately after his marriage, according to current Court information.

The former appointment is regarded as being more probable. At present the post is held by Prince Arthur of Connaught, who, when his two-year term of office expired, was asked to remain for a further twelve months and has again been requested to remain for yet another year. That would mean his return to England at the end of 1923, which would fit in with the arrangements of the Duke of York.

On the other hand, Lord Reading is anxious to resign the Viceroyalty of India at the earliest possible moment. But the difficulties of this position are so great, and so much depends on the personal abilities of the occupant, that it is felt to be unfair to place a young man on the job.

The nominal headship of the Dominions seems to be becoming a natural career for British royalties. The first instance was when the Marquis of Lorne—afterwards Duke of Argyle—son-in-law of Queen Victoria, became Governor-General of Canada in 1878. The post was later held by the Duke of Connaught and his son, Prince Arthur, has been a great success in South Africa.

The Duke of York has had a good training for an appointment of the kind. A very studious, thoughtful youth, he concentrated while at Cambridge University on civics and economics and questions relating to British Empire administration. He has developed into quite a good public speaker and is expected to make good in his job. His younger brother, Prince Henry, is likely to follow a similar career.

Sightseers Are Barred From Visiting Germany

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. — Announcement was made at the German consulate here that restrictions have been placed upon the issuance of passports to persons desiring to enter Germany which will permit only those having important business or pressing personal necessity to enter. Sight-seeing parties are barred under the drastic restrictions it was said. Although no definite time limit was set, consular officials said the restrictions would probably be in vogue for at least six months. Tendency of outsiders to inflate the already high cost of living inflicting hardships on the German people was given by the consulate as the reason for the passport restrictions.

AT CIVIC MEETING

P. J. Hayselden of 901 South Glendale avenue, and Harry E. White of 600 North Jackson street last night represented Glendale at a meeting of Los Angeles civic association in the Melrose Hotel at which the transforming of second street into a through connection between Hollenbeck Heights and Beverly Hills was the principal topic of discussion. Both of them received the plan with favor because they said it would form a closer connection between Whittier and the east side of Los Angeles.

Business Magnate Dies In Railroad Train Berth

BUFFALO, March 23.—Leonard R. Steel, Jr., former head of the L. R. Steel nation-wide enterprises which were placed in the hands of a receiver recently, died on a Pullman car near Toledo, Ohio, last night, according to word received here early today. Death was due to heart failure. He died in his berth.

A broken heart over the failure of his vast plans for a national chain of stores was believed today to have been responsible for Steel's death.

Coroner Hentzler ordered an inquest.

1000 Prisoners Are Menaced by Flames

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 23.—The Alleghany workhouse at Blaw-Knox, a number of miles from this city, is afire. The blaze started about 10 o'clock this morning, according to word received here, and the flames are spreading.

More than 1000 prisoners are confined in this prison. Fire companies from nearby points have been rushed to the scene.

Increase Egg Crop by Lights in Hen House

FULTON, Mo., March 23.—Another farmer has fooled the chickens with artificial "daylight saving." W. B. McCrackin, living near here wired his chicken house and at 4:30 a. m. turns on the lights.

Business Prosperity Growing, Says Report

WASHINGTON, March 23. — The wave of commercial and industrial prosperity is continuing in the United States, marked by a decline in business failures, rise in stock prices and increases in the output of manufacturing establishments, the department of commerce declared today in reviewing business conditions during February. Improvement is being noted in practically all lines of industry, according to reports received by the department.

Evangelist Talks on 'Incarnation of God'

The evangelist, Dr. Robert A. Hadden, held the close attention of a large audience at the Glendale Presbyterian church last evening, while he spoke on the subject, "The Incarnation of God." In part, he said that the incarnation is an important doctrine, but not the most important. The great doctrine is the resurrection. All others are related to it and connected with it. Without it all else falls.

The doctrine of the incarnation has always had its opponents. Many men have fought it since Christ's day. To reject the virgin birth is to repudiate an essential fact, a truth, a doctrine of Christianity. It is to repudiate the prophetic statements of the Old Testament. It is to repudiate the assurances of the New Testament. It is to repudiate the significant fact of all time—redemption.

There could be no revelation of God to man without the God-man, Christ Jesus. He bridges the chasm between God and man. He meets and defeats Satan. Men never could have known the coming glory had Christ not come as the seed of a woman.

Dr. Hadden speaks again this evening. Some things of special interest to high school students will be presented at this service. There will be no services on Saturday, but all the usual services on Sunday, when Dr. Hadden will speak.

Sims Urges Adequate Land and Sea Forces

OAKLAND, March 23.—Former Admiral William Snowden Sims in an interview deplored the tendency in America to reduce armament to a minimum, declaring that this country should remember the mistakes it has made in the past in failing to prepare for "eventualities."

"It is a necessity to acquaint the American people with the dire need today of maintaining adequate forces both on land and sea for the defense of the nation," Sims said.

"America today is suffering from the mistakes of the past. Our greatest mistake prior to our entry into the World War was our lack of preparedness.

"American histories are lacking in a description of the defeats we have suffered, while they laud the victories our forces have won."

NOTED COMPOSER TO GIVE CONCERT

Freida Peycke Will Appear At Meeting of Music Club April 6

Freida Peycke, composer and interpreter, is to be the first artist to entertain the Glendale Music club meeting in the auditorium of the new Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. Her concert will be given Friday night, April 6.

Miss Peycke, who is widely known and greatly in demand all over the United States, needs no introduction to Glendale music lovers and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the club, is greatly gratified over securing an engagement with her.

Possessing a pleasing dramatic and singing voice, and musical talent, Miss Peycke presents stories in verse or prose, at the same time playing delightful accompaniments on the piano. Her program before the music club will include many of her well known selections, as well as a group of new pieces.

Commission To Probe State Schools Asked

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—A bill which provides for the naming of a special school commission to make a survey of the whole educational system and report back to the legislature two years hence has been introduced by Assemblyman Edgar W. Stow of Santa Barbara.

It provides for the naming of a commission of seven members by the governor, one to be recommended by the State Bankers' association, one by the California Bar association, one by the State Federation of Labor, one by the farm bureaus, one by the Federation of Women's clubs, one by the State University regents, and one by the trustees of Stanford University.

A fund of $10,000 is set aside for the expense of this commission which shall inquire into the whole educational system of the state and propose such changes, consolidations and eliminations as it may deem wise. The scope of the education given the children, the results obtained therefrom, methods of teaching, etc., are all to be reported upon.

The bill provides that the secretary of this commission shall be the head of the legislative counsel, an appointee of the governor's.

Ask New Building At Sonoma Woman's Farm

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—A delegation of club women called upon Governor Richardson and urged that the administration back a movement to erect a new building at the industrial farm for women to replace the one recently destroyed by fire.

The delegation represented the Sonoma Women's Farm association, an organization launched by representatives of various women's civic and social clubs here to campaign for a new building at the farm.

Governor Richardson did not indicate whether he would favor the construction of a new building at the farm, it was said by members of the committee. The delegation was headed by Mrs. Frank Law of Oakland, president of the new organization.

Colorado Ready To Ratify River Pact

DENVER, March 23—The Colorado river treaty, providing for the amicable adjustment of water rights disputes between seven western states—Colorado, California, Nevada, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Wyoming—has been passed on second reading by the Colorado senate. The action forecasts final ratification of the pact without reservations. Arizona is the only state that has not ratified the treaty and it is expected that state will call a special session of the legislature shortly for the purpose of approving the compact.

Plan Public Hearing On Syndicalism Bills

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—At the request of Assemblyman Clarence Morris, chairman of the judiciary committee, use of the assembly chamber was granted for a public hearing to be held on the night of April 3 on the bills dealing with criminal syndicalism. One of these bills proposes an amendment to the existing syndicalism law. The other seeks its repeal. Both were introduced by Assemblyman Hornblower of San Francisco.

Nebraskans To Rally For Picnic Saturday

Final announcement is made of the big Nebraskan annual all-day picnic reunion at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, Saturday, March 24.

President R. W. Richardson, who will preside, has arranged for all the regular picnic features, such as county registers, hot coffee, badges and an excellent program.

All picnickers are requested to bring basket dinners. Tourists and visitors are urged to come and meet old friends from all sections.

ROTARIANS VOTE FOR BOND ISSUE

Club Members In Favor Of Airport Project; Aid for Boy Scout Camp

The following are the reasons assigned by the members of the Glendale Rotary club at their luncheon yesterday noon in the auditorium of the Citizens' building, for the whole-hearted indorsement given the Airport bond issue up for vote at the election of April 10:

It will be a paying proposition from the start.

In ten years it will be one of the city's greatest assets.

It represents an investment to date of $16,500.

Experts claim it to be the finest airport site in Southern California

It has already advertised Glendale all over the United States, and will afford millions of dollars' worth of free publicity.

It will bring to the city many industries, with resultant payrolls that increase general prosperity and swell the total population.

It will be utilized as an Army Navy and Postal landing field, and will undoubtedly also be employed as a terminus of the coming transcontinental aerial passenger service.

For Water Supply

And last, but by no means least, Glendale's water supply is vitally linked up with the project, as the municipal pumping grounds adjoin the site.

Following endorsement of the forthcoming bond issue, which is for the purpose of buying this tract outright, President Roy L. Kent of the club voiced his opinion that in the event of the issue failing to carry at the polls, the entire measure would in all probability be lost, as it is probable a test of law will not sustain the act of the City Council in spending that $16,500 of the public funds without specific authorization, worthy as their motives unquestionably were in the action.

A report was then heard from A. R. Eastman, chairman of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout Council, on the eighty-acre Haynes Canyon camp site, visited recently by a party of six Rotarians. Mr. Eastman gave it as the opinion of himself and the balance of the party that this canyon would make an ideal Scouts' camp.

Agree to Help

It was brought out that the altitude is 3000 feet, ample running water is available the year around and numbers of picturesque cabin sites suggest themselves, while a dozen or more hiking trails lead out in different directions over the hills to the big woods above.

At a count of hands, fifteen members agreed to subscribe $100 or more toward underwriting this proposition for the boys of Glendale and vicinity, two members pledging $500 each. In addition to this, $200 has been pledged in Tujunga.

President Kent appointed a committee comprising A. R. Eastman, John Huntley and Edward Hewitt to work out the details of such a proposition, and to negotiate with the owners of the site.

Telegrams exchanged between the Glendale Rotary club and Postmaster General New, Senator Shortridge and Representative Lineberger, of Washington, were read, showing that the club had been influential in obtaining for the local post office an added allowance of $250 for the balance of March, together with assurances that immediate steps would be taken to relieve the critical condition caused by shortage of funds.

Praise For School

George U. Moyse, principal of the Glendale Union High School, paid a tribute to Glendale's new High school now under construction, stating that there might be larger schools in California but none finer.

George Karr produced a colossal lemon from Labette county, Kansas, weighing twenty-seven ounces, that looked like a lemon in more ways than one.

Manager William Howe of the Glendale theatre extended an invitation to all Rotarians and Rotary Anns to attend his playhouse last night, where "A Front Page Story" is being shown.

The "business methods" discourses were postponed to next week's luncheon, due to lack of time.

Visiting Rotarians present were J. E. Estenson, of Blackfoot, Idaho; Ben Barnard, of Mitchell, S Dakota; R. L. Anderson, of Kingman, Ariz.; G. W. Byers, of Champaign, Ill.; John C. Stannard, of Alameda; C. W. McCord, of Los Angeles.

Heart Failure Takes Reserve Board Member

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Milo D. Campbell of Coldwater, Michigan, recently appointed a member of the federal reserve board, dropped dead here yesterday afternoon while playing golf at the Columbia country club.

Campbell had already played eighteen holes of golf but collapsed as he started around for the second time. He was a guest at the club of former Senator Townsend of Michigan.

Senator Townsend and other golfers carried Campbell into the club-house and physicians were summoned immediately. They pronounced him dead of heart failure.

Campbell was president of the National Milk Producers' association, and was prominently identified with a number of national agricultural organizations before he was appointed by President Harding as the "dirt farmer" member of the federal board.

ENGLISH WAR ON SHIP STOWAWAYS

Form Menace to Passengers Through Fire Peril in Vessels' Holds

LONDON, March 23.—British steamship companies have declared war on the "stowaway." They say he is not merely a nuisance but a public danger.

Companies assert that American seamen started the practice and that an organized trade is now in existence to get stowaways across the Atlantic from British ports. A big haul of sixteen "non-paying" pasengers on the Clyde recently has strengthened their belief.

It is stated that scores of unemployed Englishmen have scraped together the necessary five pounds in order to cross the Atlantic, but it is believed that not a single one of them will succeed in landing in the United States. Most of them are discovered before the ship leaves the British coast, while the rest are invariably detected by the United States immigration officers.

The case against the stowaway is not merely that he has to be fed and brought back to England. There is the added anger of his causing fires.

What is Butter?

Here's What Uncle Sam Says It Is—

Food Inspection Decision 190
Issued January 19, 1923

"Butter is the clean, sound product made by gathering in any manner the fat of fresh or ripened milk or cream into a mass, which also includes a small portion of the other natural milk constituents, with or without salt, and contains, all tolerances provided for, less than sixteen per cent (16.0%) of water, and not less than eighty per cent (80%) of milk fat."

Here's What Many Creameries Give You—

"—a grade of butter produced by mixing, reworking, rechurning in milk or cream, refining or in any way producing a uniform, purified, or improved product from different lots or parcels of melted or unmelted butter or butterfat, in which any acid, alkali, chemical, or any substance whatever is introduced or used for the purpose or with the effect of deodorizing or removing therefrom rancidity, or any butterfat with which there is mixed any substance foreign to butter as herein defined, with intent or effect of cheapening in cost the product." As defined by the Act of May 9, 1902, and known as the "Adulterated" law—

And Uncle Sam Says Such Butter is "Adulterated Butter"

The creamery man tells you it's "MERELY NEUTRALIZED."

But who wants Adulterated Butter—even if it is "merely neutralized," and why is it necessary to "neutralize" butter supposedly pure?

It's not the REAL THING.

Adulterated means—according to the dictionary—"corrupt or impure"—"contaminated," "tainted."

Adulteration—the act of adulterating—is defined as "The act of adding intentionally to an article, for purposes of gain, any substance or substances the presence of which is not acknowleged in the name under which the article is sold."

Do you want tainted butter, even if it is "chemically pure," on your table?

Do you want your family to eat contaminated food synthetically sweetened?

Then shun "neutralized" butter as you would other impure food.

WORLD MEET TO FIGHT ANTHRAX

Fatal Germ Transmitted to Humans Through Skins of Long Dead Animals

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—A world-wide move looking toward setting up permanent precautionary measures to prevent the spreading of anthrax has been initiated, according to Dr. M. Dorset, of the department of agriculture. Dr. Dorset has just returned to Washington from London, where, unofficially, he attended the conference of the International Advisory committee on the prevention of anthrax.

This conference, consisting of members from Great Britain, India, Australia, South Africa, Italy, Sweden, Germaany, France and Belgium, went on record as favoring adoption of protective measures by all nations of the world. At the same time the conference sought to determine more effective methods for disinfecting wool, hides, skins and hair, most common carriers of anthrax.

Infects Stock

Anthrax is an infectious disease of cattle, horses and sheep, which usually is transmitted to humans through the medium of hair brushes.

Repeated steps to wipe out anthrax in this country have been made in congress. In the last congress a bill was introduced which would prohibit the importation of hair brushes. During the Fordney-McCumber tariff clash a similar attempt was made. The department of agriculture is devoting considerable time in experimentation with new methods of disinfecting wool.

Deaths in this country caused by anthrax as compared with other nations, have been relatively few, there having been only 222 deaths from this disease in the eight years preceding 1917, in places where they might have been prevented by proper disinfection. No method for protecting farmers and dock workers, who handle wool, hides and hair brought into this country, however, has yet been found.

Precautions Taken

In an endeavor to guard her wool workers, Great Britain has erected a large disinfecting plant in Liverpool, at a cost of $750,000, Dr. Dorset reported. The cost of operating this plant is approximately 3 cents a pound for wool. So far, however, no effective disinfecting method has been devised for hides and skins that is not injurious to these products.

In a special communication the department of agriculture warns farmers of America, in order to prevent anthrax, not to attempt to salvage skins of animals that have died from unknown causes. About 20 per cent of anthrax fatalities result from skinning animals that die from unknown ailments, the department declared.

STEAL ANYTHING TO GET REWARD

Owners Gladly Pay to Have Articles Returned With No Questions Asked

BERLIN, March 23.— Berlin crooks have evolved a new twist to their profession that is making the police authorities of the town sit up nights.

Instead of stealing and selling the booty to a "fence," the worthy gentry of the German capital's underworld have taken to stealing stuff so that they may return it to its rightful owner, with "No Questions Asked."

Any kind of property is meat for thieves. Not merey jewels, money and trinkets, and such merchandise as silks and expensive fabrics, but electric motors and machinery are being stolen daily. Not even the bronze statutes in the public squares are safe, for not long ago a couple of hardy thieves made off with one during the night.

Rewards Offered

In consequence the billboards of the town are liberally decorated with offers of large rewards for information leading to the apprehension of the thieves or the return of the property. And the owner is generally delighted to pay a reward for the return of his property, asking no questions.

So acute has the situation become that the hotels are increasing their forces of detectives. And still the thefts go on, so that it's unsafe to leave a pair of shoes to be polished outside the door.

Petty thieves have become so bold that it is not unusual for an apartment house janitor, on making his daily inspection tour, to find that the brass trimmings have been stripped off all the doors during the night.

Papers Stolen

Just now the police are looking for the glib young man who walked off in broad daylight with the personal papers of one of the attaches of the Portuguese Legation here. The diplomat, having just moved into a hotel, left his room to go to his office. A few minutes later a smartly dressed young fellow appeared at the hotel clerk's desk, introduced himself as the absent diplomat's brother, and was admitted to the latter's room, whence he emerged after a few minutes with a leather portfolio containing private papers. Thanking the clerk, he tipped the porter and walked off as gay as the day is long.

When the diplomat, whose name is being kept a dark secret, returned, the hotel clerk learned that he had no brother and that the portfolio contained private papers on which he set high store. The police were notified, and a "no questions asked" reward offer was placed in the newspapers.

Waterway Will Link Switzerland With Sea

GENEVA, March 23.—With the object of constructing a waterway through the heart of Switzerland, joining the Rhine and Rhone rivers, an American, English and French syndicate has been formed with a capital of $90,000,000.

Zurich is to be the headquarters of the company, and General Gerard, a Frenchman, is president.

The project has inspired the Swiss government to seek for a scheme whereby the North Sea and Mediterranean sea can be linked together.

Male Thief Yields to Lady Detective's Hug

DETROIT, March 23. — "I hadn't been hugged for a long time. I kind of liked it."

This was the way William Clowery, 34, of Toledo, explained why he failed to resist when Miss Jean Kerr, department store detective, threw her arms around him on the street, after, she alleges, Clowery fled from the store with four dresses.

He is charged with grand larceny.

No Salary Raises for Hawaii Politicians

HONOLULU, March 23.—Employes of the territory of Hawaii are all out of luck so far as further salary increases are concerned. Governor Wallace R. Farrington, who is now whipping into shape a general administration budget, has announced definitely that there will not be sufficient money available to permit of any increases at the present time.

Cow Gives Over Her Weight in Butter

PORTLAND, Ore., March 23.—A cow that beats the world record for production with a margin greater than the amount many cows produce in a year has just come to the front in Oregon. Her record is 1,141.29 pounds butterfat in 365 days.

Darling's Jolly Lassie is the new champion. She is owned by Pickard Brothers, of Marion county, Oregon, who have produced much world-famous stock. In fact, at the present time, Vive La France, also bred and developed by the Pickards, is still the champion long distance cow for all breeds, having recently made her sixth record with 5,331.95 pounds butterfat, giving a yearly average of 888.66.

Darling's Jolly Lassie finished in the junior four-year-old class and takes that class record away from her own mother, who has held this age class for several years with 983.68 pounds butterfat.

Some idea may be had of the butter produced in one year by this new champion when it is considered the cow has given one and one-third times her own weight in the most highly nutritive food of mankind.

The average man would soon acquire a lot of money if he could sell his get-rich-quick schemes at ten cents each.

London Has Lots of Babies for Adoption

LONDON, March 23.—The Salvation Army inserted an advertisement in London papers announcing that a wealthy unmarried woman doctor desires to adopt a blue-eyed baby. Within three hours fifty blue-eyed babies were offered.

Look to the Future

The big point to consider in selecting roofing is how long will it last —what will the upkeep expense be?

Almost any type of roofing will give you good service for awhile, but you don't want to buy roofing troubles—you don't want to be put to the expense of constant repairs and frequent replacement.

"Weaver" Roofing is the ideal, the practical type of roofing for residential, industrial and commercial buildings. It is absolutely leak proof. There is nothing about it to get out of order, for when laid it becomes one complete, solid sheet of roofing—defiant to the heat of the sun and to the beating of the torrential rain.

Any Qualified Roofing Contractor Can Lay Weaver Roofing.

CLUB'S CONCERT PROVES SUCCESS

Three Artists Offer Good Program for Benefit of Piano Fund

Measuring the success of last night's concert in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse auditorium by the enthusiastic reception accorded the three artists presenting the program the affair was a marked success artistically and added a goodly sum to the treasury of the club music section for purchasing the grand piano for the clubhouse auditorium.

Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator of the music section, and the Fitzgerald Music Company of Los Angeles, arranged the program and Mrs. Roberts was highly complimented for presenting Brahm Van Den Berg, pianist; Raymond Harmon, vocalist, and Calmon Luboviski, violinist. Mrs. Flora Myers Engel, vocalist, who was to have appeared, was ill and unable to keep the engagement.

Inspect New Club

Preceding the concert members of the music section, and members of the club board received in the foyer and those attending the concert were privileged to vist all parts of the club's new home.

A large basket of varied spring flowers occupied a place on the stage, the flowers being a gift from the Oakmont Country club, complimenting the music section on their activities in behalf of the club.

Brahm Van Den Berg was the first artist to appear and he was heartily greeted as a Glendalian and as a master pianist.

Raymond Harmon, who gave up two other engagements to take Mrs. Engel's place on the program, received inspiring applause.

Calmon Luboviski, violinist, like Brahm Van Den Berg, is an artist well known and beloved by Glendale audiences and his reception last night was highly flattering.

STAFF OF PAPER THEATRE GUESTS

'A Front Page Story' Wins O. K. From Members of Fourth Estate

Members of the staff of The Glendale Evening News were guests last night of Manager William A. Howe, at the Glendale Theatre, where they had the pleasure of witnessing "A Front Page Story"—a film that deals with newspaper life in a realistic and convincing manner.

The picture, which is a Vitagraph offering put out as a Jess Robbins production, was made to commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of the first newspaper printed in the English language.

Again, the picture is released on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the advent of motion pictures as a form of entertanment and medium of education.

The two arts or professions have much in common. The newspaper has long been known as the "fourth estate" and the films are coming to be regarded as the "fifth estate."

True to Life

Printing has been titled "the art preservative." Films now take a similar position in the world. The former preserves thoughts, the latter actions. Both are invaluable as a record of modern civilization.

These thoughts occurred to the newspaper man who sat last night and looked at "A Front Page Story," as its smooth ribbon of silver lights and shadows fled across the screen.

It is a true newspaper story, this! While it is not a story of newspaper life in a progressive city such as Glendale, there are literally thousands of towns and cities between 5,000 and 15,000 population, scattered the length and breadth of this land, out of which this story might have been lifted bodily.

The Glendale Evening News staff has passed the verdict of "Okeh" upon "A Front Page Story."

Beauty Parlors Are Exempt From New Law

The passage of the Hurley barber bill by the state legislature, with the last minute amendment that Senator Hurley was persuaded to tack on it, eliminates the beauty parlor proprietors and their employes from the provisions of the new law, according to Mrs. Laura Wolcott, 136 South Brand boulevard, who was one of the representatives of the Southern California Hair Dressers' association who went to Sacramento to lobby against the bill as originally introduced. With Mrs. Wolcott were Mrs. Anna Cayvan, president of the association, and Mrs. Needham of Berkeley, a member of the San Francisco branch of the association.

THEATRES

The GLENDALE

"A Front Page Story," showing at the Glendale Theatre for the last times today, does what many other photoplays have tried to do and failed. It presents a newspaper story that is true to life; it takes the spectator behind the scenes and shows the real workings of a small-town newspaper, and the feuds that result over its policies and editorials.

Its principal characters are the editor and the mayor, both trying to work independently of each other for the benefit of the people. The resultant complications, humorous and exciting incidents, make it a photoplay that can be thoroughly enjoyed.

That many have already enjoyed it, states Manager William Howe, is attested by the large audiences at every showing.

The T. D. & L.

THE T. D. & L.

"Grumpy," a Paramount special, produced by William De Mille is the feature showing, today only, at the T. D. & L. Theatre.

Theodore Roberts is the featured player.

The story is from the play of the same name, that has been such a popular success. Millions have come to love that whimsical, irascible old character, "Grumpy," and theatre fans know immediately, when they hear Theodore Roberts appears in this role, how good a picture it must be.

A strong supporting cast has been assembled, as is usual in Paramount films, and the scenic effects, sets and other departments of the production are up to standard.

Predict France Will Reject Arms Treaty

PARIS, March 23.—All indications pointed to rejection of the Washington conference treaties for limiting naval armaments when they were taken up today by the foreign affairs commission of the chamber of deputies.

Deputy Lacour Grandmaison, chairman of the war navy commission, said the treaties were not acceptable to France and would likely be rejected. On the other hand, Deputy Charles Guernier said they might be accepted with reservations.

Premier Poincare is understood to favor acceptance but with strong reservations.

Income Tax Chief Thanks The News

Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue, has sent the following self-explanatory communication to The Glendale Evening News:

"I wish to express to you the thanks of the government for the splendid co-operation you extended to us during the income tax drive. We are very grateful.

"The really wonderful showing made by the Southern California Internal Revenue district was made possible by the fine support you gave us. It has again placed the Sixth California at the head of the list.

"I recognize the fact that you have only two commodities to sell—circulation and advertising. Yet you have given both to the government—free of charge. Surely this is 100 per cent loyalty.

"Please accept my best wishes.

"Sincerely yours,

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CARPET SWEEPER

The Fox, the Wolf and the Bob Cat, gloomy and sad, sat on the edge of the woods, while the cold March wind blew over them.

"Can either of you think of a way by which we can catch Uncle Wiggily?" asked the Bob Cat.

The Fox and the Wolf shook their heads.

"No," they answered.

"Neither can I," growled the Bob Cat. 'I am afraid we shall never nibble his ears."

"Hark!" suddenly whispered the Wolf. "Some one is coming!"

"Perhaps it is the rabbit himself!" hoarsely said the Fox. "If it is, we'll get him now!"

"Alas! It is only the Monkey Doodle!" said the Bob Cat. 'He can not help us."

"I am not so sure of that," spoke the Fox cunningly, after thinking a moment. "The Monkey Doodle is very smart. Perhaps he can tell us a way to catch Uncle Wiggily." And when the Monkey Doodle came along the three bad animals suddenly pounced out in front of him.

"Oh, don't hurt me!" begged the Monkey Doodle.

"We will not harm you if you catch Uncle Wiggily for us," said the Bob Cat. "Will you do it?"

"I can but try," promised the Monkey Doodle, as he switched his long, thin tail to and fro. "Yes I'll try. I'll sneak up and hide under the stove in his bungalow."

"What good will that do?" asked the Fox.

"When Uncle Wiggily walks up to the stove to warm his cold paws," said the Monkey Doodle, "I'll jump out and grab him. Then I'll chatter like a Jack-in-the-Box and you can rush in and nibble his ears."

"Very good," growled the Wolf, though if the bad chaps caught Uncle Wiggily it would be very bad, I think. So the Monkey Doodle started off, and, watching his chance, he sneaked in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow and waited for the rabbit gentleman to come in from looking for an adventure.

"And when he hops up to the stove to warm his paws, I'll grab him," thought the Monkey Doodle, hidden under the stove.

Now, as it happened, that day, Nurse Jane started to clean the hollow stump bungalow with the carpet sweeper. She had almost finished, and had taken the carpet sweeper to the kitchen to empty the machine, when, all of a sudden, the telephone bell rang.

"Perhaps that is Uncle Wiggily calling up to say he will not be home to lunch," thought the must-at lady housekeeper, for the bunny rabbit had gone out adventuring. But when Nurse Jane answered the telephone it was Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, asking her to run over for a minute and look at a new dress Mrs. Twistytail had bought. So Nurse Jane hopped across the lots, leaving the carpet sweeper in the kitchen, and (though she did not know this last) the Monkey Doodle was there under the stove.

After a while along came Uncle Wiggily to the hollow stump bungalow.

"Not an adventure did I have this day," said Mr. Longears. Then, as he entered the kitchen to warm his paws, he saw the carpet sweeper standing in the middle of the floor.

"Nurse Jane must have had to go out without finishing the sweeping," thought Uncle Wiggily. "I'll do it for her." Then, not knowing any better than to use a carpet sweeper on the kitchen oilcloth, Uncle Wiggily started pushing the machine to and fro across the floor.

And just then, as it happened, the Monkey Doodle under the stove became excited and he let his long, thin tail stick out. Uncle Wiggily saw this tail and said:

"Oh, ho! A long, black thread raveling!"

"Oh, ho! A long, black thread raveling, I suppose. I'll take that up in Nurse Jane's carpet sweeper?" Uncle Wiggily pushed the sweeper over the tail of the Monkey Doodle. Just fancy that!

"Ouch! Wouch! Oh, this will never do!" howled the Monkey Doodle, as his tail began to wind around the brush inside the sweeper. "Oh, let me go!" And out from beneath the stove he sprang, pulling his tail from out the sweeper, and away he ran.

"Bless my pink nose!" cried Uncle Wiggily when he saw what had happened. The Fox, Wolf and Bob Cat caught sight of the Monkey Doodle skipping along.

"Where's the rabbit?" they cried.

"Don't talk to me of rabbits! Oh, my tail! My tail!" howled the Monkey Doodle, and he hid himself in the deep, dark forest.

"Fooled again!" said the Bob Cat, the Fox and the Wolf. And, oh! how Nurse Jane and the Bunny Rabbit laughed! But if the chocolate cake doesn't try to play on the piano and make all the keys plack where only part of them ought to be that way, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the knocker.

HOT WIRE AMMETERS

In spark transmitting stations a radiation ammeter is a great convenience; in continuous wave stations it is almost a necessity. It is also desirable to know the filament current of vacuum tubes. This is particularly true of transmitting tubes. The charging rate of storage batteries should be known. These requirements of experimental radio stations make it necessary to possess an ammeter equally accurate on direct currents and on currents of radio frequency. Such a meter should have low impedance. It should be rugged and reliable. The Type 127 Hot Wire Ammeters were built to meet these requirements. During the recent war the United States Army and Navy used large numbers of these meters.

Judicial Brow Furrows Over Bulldog's Fate

LOS ANGELES, March 23.—While "Buster" romped with glee about the yard of his Sawtelle hotel today, a dignified Los Angeles judge was knitting his brows and cogitating over whether he should impose the death sentence on him.

"Buster" is an English bull dog. He appeared before Police Judge Frederickson on trial for his life, his accuser being Mrs. Anna Clark, of Sawtelle, who asserts "Buster" bit her without provocation on February 20, last.

Police Officer L. W. Flannery of Sawtelle also appeared as a witness for the prosecution, stating that when he went to serve the complaint on "Buster's" owner, Mrs. K. S. Fitzgerald at Sawtelle, the dog's mother "Queenie," tried to bite him.

Several of Mrs. Fitzgerald's neighbors testified that "Buster" was "peaceful." As for "Buster," he sat in a corner of the court room, chained to a chair, wondering what it was all about.

As shown in the st article, the receiver is equiped with five control handles the rimary inductance and condenser ndles, and the secondary inductnce and condenser control, the fth being the coupling. Each of ese controls is lettered or numbered. Usually the condensers are alibrated from 0 to 180 degrees nd the inductances numbered acording to the number of taps taken off from each coil, say 1 to 10. he coupling is also calibrated om zero to 180 degrees. In a odern set is it so designated as allow for a "stand-by" adjustent. This is a single circuit hich is capable of broad tuning, hat is, it permits signals covering fairly wide range of wave lengths be heard at the same time. A vitch is usually provided to throw the "tune" side, or to the oupled circuits.

First the switch is set to "standby," the coupling control is set at 180 degrees or "max," being the maximum amount of coupling obtainable. The primary inductance is then set on one and the primary condenser dial slowly rotated until signals are heard. If these are the desired signals the switch is then thrown to the "tune" side and the secondary inductance and condenser adjusted to the primary until the signals are heard the loudest. When this is accomplished, the coupling should be slowly varied until the maximum strength of signals is obtained. Very often the strength of signals as obtained by the adjustment of the coupling may have to be sacrificed to prevent "interference" from some station working on or near the same wave length. It may be necessary, to prevent persistent "jamming" that the primary and secondary must be thrown somewhat out of resonance to eliminate interference. All this will readily be ascertained by practice. After a few experiments the operator will soon become very expert in the manipulation of the various controls. In fact, he will become immensely absorbed in the details. There is nothing so interesting to a beginner than this process of exploration. Just so long as the experimenter bears in mind the relations of the two circuits to each other, and the principles of resonance, he cannot fail to obtain results.

CLUB DISCUSSES VARIOUS PAVINGS

Proper Kind for Glendale Avenue Is Topic Before Local Association

The proper paving for Glendale avenue was the topic of discussion yesterday noon in the Harriet Mae Tea Room at 201 East Harvard street by the Glendale Advancement association.

Charles F. Stuart of 638 East Broadway, who presided in the absence of C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue, announced preliminary proceeding for the improvement of Glendale avenue are being rushed by the municipal engineering department. He reported that City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy would like to be informed as to the kind of paving desired by the property owners.

"In any type of construction, that a man may build, he wants results; he wants something that will be permanent; he wants something that will be there when the bonds become due;" said C. J. McElroy of Los Angeles in a speech on the merits of Warrenite bitulithic paving. He stated that five million square feet of this paving is giving satisfaction in Portland, and that the maintenance expense for three and a half years was only $500. He asserted that Orange Grove boulevard in Pasadena, Wilshire boulevard in Los Angeles, and 200 miles of the Columbia Highway are now paved with this composition.

Money Wasted, Is Claim

"There has been more money wasted here in paving than in any place that I have ever been," declared A. G. Smith of 126 East Elk street, denouncing cheap paving and recommending the selection of a high grade paving.

Although the recent ruling of the City Council to accept no improved streets unless surfaced with at least three inch macadam is expensive to subdividers, Mr. Smith, who is putting the Wire Ranch on the market, stated that he was more than glad to pay his share of any additional cost to secure better streets.

Assessment District

C. E. Stanley of 108 North Everett street suggested that the improvement of Glendale avenue might be paid for through an assessment district. He said that he intended to circulate petitions to have the contracts specify that traffic shall not be interrupted simultaneously over the entire street.

Others present at the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Addison, Mrs. R. G. Addison, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fraley, L. R. Caldwell, Mrs. J. A. McGowan, A. W. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mercer, W. P. McIntosh, W. T. Wallace, Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, Dr. Jessie Russell, R. M. Brown, Maurice Hartmann, Mrs. Mary Jane Brewer, Dr. C. M. Taylor, G. H. Gibbs, F. W. McIntyre, W. L. Truitt, Harley G. Political Circus In L. A.
Bay District Now Busy
Best To Pick 'Em Young?
Happiness In Country

By Gil A. Cowan

POLITICS in Los Angeles are steaming along at a great rate. From all evidences more interest is being evinced in the race for congress in the Tenth district than in any recent campaign.

And those desiring city office also are getting their hats into the ring. All of which affords the city folks a two ring circus. As a friend of mine vividly expresses such a situation, they will be as busy as cats on a tin roof.

It is good to see more and more experienced politicians entering the ranks of public service, rather than standing on the side lines and directing some lesser lights.

San Francisco newspapers, notably the Examiner, now are conducting a booster campaign in which all of the attractions of the bay district are being exploited.

Nothing better for the whole state could be done, for San Francisco has been slow to emulate Los Angeles in telling the world what it has. Also, Oakland and other cities of the state should get behind local movements to build up their particular sections, for the prosperity of each depends on the prosperity of all.

In Colusa a 27 year old school teacher is reported running away with a 17 year old athlete, although it may be the parents of the boy will have the marriage annulled.

While cradle robbing cannot be condoned, if real love exists between the pair, it would seem that the woman was wise in her choice, at least.

To get a good husband nowadays, folks, it seems imperative that they be plucked young.

Of course, that's the personal opinion of one who is happily single.

From a cursory examination of the law relative to the department of agriculture of this state, the writer finds the orchardist and farmer amply protected from pests.

True, in this vast country of ours the protection is necessary, for states like Texas have suffered irreparable damage from the boll weevil, etc.

Too great care cannot be taken with our trees and fruits and vegetables and grains for they provide the greatest revenue in the long run, or at least more people gain their livelihood from agricultural pursuits than any of the other industries.

All of which calls to mind the fact that the farmers do not share well with the workmen of the cities in their share of worldly luxuries, but they are far better off.

To the city born no happiness comes except that which is purchased at a price, it would seem. The lad who can go swimming in the creek, who can chase cows all over the hillside, ride the range, and so on, has the youngster of the city, who must buy gasoline for a motor car, pay to see a ball game, and the like, backed right off the boards.

But it is hard to make the boy from the country see it that way. Maybe if he did there would be a great peasant class in this country which is an unhealthy condition for any nation economically.

In Sacramento recently a policeman was sent to jail for a day by a judge when he contemptuously remarked about a traffic law violator's case being dismissed. We would like to shake hands with that judge. Policemen are not paid for their comments. And most of them know it.

Officer And Beauty In Liner Romance

Lieut. Felice Erranti

Lieutenant Felice Erranti, of the Italian army, entered the line as a private, his heroism winning many honors. He has just returned to America to visit his parents, whom he had not seen for eight years, and there was considerable speculation on the liner Tormina as to the romance that sprang up on shipboard between the officer and Miss Gertrude Nizzi of Chicago.

Minister Brings Suit For Heavy Damages

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 23.—Suit for $125,000 damages was filed in federal court here by Rev. George Chalmers Richmond, former Episcopal minister of Evanston, Wyo., against several leading citizens of the latter city.

Rev. Richmond alleges that he was driven from Evanston and caused much humiliation and mental anguish.

The clergyman, who is said to be now living in California, was removed from the Evanston church by Bishop N. S. Thomas in April 1922, when Rev. Richmond was in the midst of a campaign to "drive the devil out of Evanston." The minister's two fisted campaign against alleged gambling and general wide-open conditions aroused the citizens of Evanston who held a mass meeting to demand his removal from the pastorate.

The minister is widely known throughout the country, having held pastorates in Pennsylvania, New York state, St. Louis and other sections.

Predict Ruhr Peace Inside Three Weeks

LONDON, March 23.—Franco-German "peace" in the Ruhr within three weeks was predicted today by the Daily Mail. According to this newspaper, Dr. Bergmann, German reparations expert, worked out a plan with M. Dubois, a Swiss, and the latter is now in Paris to offer it to Premier Poincare.

Seek Missing Pastor On Forgery Charges

DENVER, March 23.—Federal authorities continued their search for Rev. Walter A. Grace, pastor of the Shrine of St. Anne, at Arvada, near here, who is wanted on a warrant charging forgery of government documents.

Mme. Bernhardt Seized By Ptomaine Poison

PARIS, March 23. — Mme. Bernhardt, who has been posing in moving pictures, has suffered an attack of ptomaine poisoning and has been unable to appear for two days, it was learned this afternoon. Mme. Bernhardt was said to be in greatly weakened condition.

SPORTS CHATTER

The overwhelming victory of Suzanne Lenglen over Molla Mallory leaves no room for doubt as to who is who in the world's woman tennis blue book. We grant that Molla went to Europe after a sick spell, but that hardly had anything to do with her defeat, the match in question coming long after the American champion's illness.

Were this the first crushing defeat Molla had suffered at the hands of the French girl the world would be right in saying give her another chance. However the same thing happened last year and it happened in Europe in 1921. Then in that year Suzanne came to this country and Molla got revenge. Suzanne claimed illness and those who are usually on the inside know and admit that the French girl was actually ill. Molla beat Suzanne in this country when the latter was an even greater sufferer from sickness than Molla was when Suzanne beat her.

Honor where honor is due and the snappy, fiery, peppery, stylish French girl is due every honor that the admiring and partisan tennis world can bestow.

Something new in the boxing world was pulled the other night when the University of California and the University of Southern California boxers met in the squared circle at Los Angeles. Southern California had a full attendance of an organized rooting section.

We are well versed in the "rooting" and hooting and tirades of the crowd in the "gallery" at the regular professional series of boxing matches, but this college rooting section is something new.

Last year a record was established when fourteen nations challenged this country for the Davis Cup of Tennis fame. This year that record has been broken and a total of seventeen nations are anxious to try and wrest the trophy from the United States.

True billiard champions do not get as much for one match as even a second rate boxer, yet all in all Schaeffer and Hoppe make out a rather heavy income tax return each year. In their recent match, Hoppe as the winner received a cash total of $4,600, while Schaeffer received $2,400. The total paid attendance at the match was $9,157.

When John McGraw got on the scale recently at San Antonio, Tex., where his team is training he wobbled the bar to 205 pounds. When you consider that in his prime as a player John weighed about 145 pounds it is evident that all the training in the world will never get him back into his original weight class.

Bob Same Hands Out Beating to Padgett

DETROIT, March 23. — Bob Same gave Cowboy Padgett of Kansas City a nice beating in ten rounds. Arlos Fanning, Kansas City, beat Frankie Keogh, in ten rounds.

McCarthy Asks Facts About Baseball Deal

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—President William McCarthy of the Pacific Coast league today awaited replies to telegrams sent William Wrigley, Jr., J. H. Patrick, Charles K. Lockhard, Wade Killifer and John J. Sullivan calling upon them to submit to him as league head all telegrams, correspondence, documents, minutes, bank accounts and transactions involved in any way in the sale of the Seattle club by James Boldt to Lockard, Killifer and Sullivan. This was the first step in the investigation started by McCarthy of charges of "syndicate baseball."

At the same time it was reported Cal Ewing of the Oakland club was sounding out by wire club owners on a proposal to call a special meeting of the league for April 1.

Ten-Team League of Bowlers Organized

At a meetiing held last night at the Glendale Recreation Center bowling alleys, the Glendale City league was organized, with ten charter teams, announces Manager Peter Neise of the alleys.

It is planned to start the league Monday, April 2.

The following officers were elected—Joe Fortunato, president; Robert Jensen, treasurer; Peter Neise, secretary.

Announcement is repeated of the match at the Recreation Center alleys tonight between the Glendale team and a picked quintet from the Pacific Electric railway boys, Los Angeles.

Mickey Walker Wins Decision From Latzo

NEW YORK, March 23. — In his last ring appearance before going under an indefinite suspension imposed upon him by the New York State Athletic commission, Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, gained an easy victory over Pete Latzo, of Scranton, Pa., last night in Newark, scoring knockdowns in the fourth and ninth rounds. The bout, however, went the limit of twelve rounds.

Notre Dame To Meet Yale In Track Event

SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 23.—Unofficial announcement was made here yesterday that Coach Knute K. Rockne, of Notre Dame university, had booked a dual track meet for May 12, between the Catholics and Yale, the meet to be held at New Haven.

Rockne could not be reached for verification of the report and inquiries directed at Captain Davis Rarrios met with "See Rockne."

Halt Deportation of 400 Slav Immigrants

WASHINGTON, March 23. — Secretary of Labor Davis today issued orders to hold up the deportation of 200 Russians and 200 Poles, now held at Ellis Island in excess of the Russian and Polish immigration quotas.

The question of the admittance of these aliens into the United States will remain undecided pending the result of negotiations between Davis and Secretary of State Hughes.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Newark—Mickey Walker, Elizabeth, N. J., got popular decision over Pete Latzo, Scranton, Pa., twelve rounds.

At Brooklyn—Vincent (Pepper) Martin got decision over Frankie Edwards, twelve rounds.

At St. Louis—Mudget Smith beat Peewee Kaiser in ten rounds.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

While the weeding out process has been in operation ever since the start of the preliminary baseball training season, it is from now on that the axe will resound more frequently with a dull thud on the necks of the various aspirants for professional baseball honors. They have been let out one by one as it became evident that they were not league material. Some have been kept on sufferance because of the possibility of their developing the required form, but those who fail in this now are due to get let out and the exodus will be a considerable one. The rookie, because he gets through a training season need not plume himself. There are more wrecks strewn along the way after the first couple of weeks of regular play when the acid test comes.

According to those who have watched the clubs of the Pacific Coast league in preliminary training, there seems to be a lot of respect for the ability of the San Francisco club which seems to be given the edge. Seattle has been given a lot of mention, but this may be largely due to the fact that their manager is what may be called a "personality" in baseball. Wolverton, the Silver Fox of the league, undoubtedly is as shrewd a man as there is in the game today, and it is because he is at the helm that opinion leans to the idea that Seattle will be one of the teams at all times in the race for the pennant.

Less than three weeks now remain before the call of "Play Ball" resounds on the diamonds of the Pacific Coast league, the first in the country to get under way. The season opens on April 3. Incidentally, a lot of things may happen during the present season, the most important of which may be the gradual formulation of plans for elevating the league into a major organization. The population of the various cities of the coast league are making rapid gains in the matter of population and the available figures are sufficient to show that it will be only a matter of time when the transition will be made. It seems the inevitable trend. Attendance, which makes gate receipts, are the final arbiters, and the existing two major leagues are only too cognizant of the facts.

Reports concerning Babe Ruth's physical condition are not at all reassuring and the prospects seem to be that he will go into the game far from being in fit condition to undergo the strenuous course of sprouts needful to carry on through a season. The result probably will be reflected in his ability at the bat in the matter of home runs. There are few, if any, who think at this time that he has any chance at all to better the figures he set two years ago.

HAWAIIANS BALK AT IRISH SCRIBE

Records of Island Folklore Sure to Be Wrong, Is Assertion

By IRENE CORBALLY KUHN
International News Service.

HONOLULU, March 24.—As a poet of old and new Erin, Padriac Colum may be all that those who go in for the new culture claim him to be. The Hawaiian Civic club, the only organization in the territory composed exclusively of native Hawaiians, has no desire to criticize the belles lettres, but when it comes to interpreting the legendry and folklore of Hawaii, no one with a name, reputation and experience quite so foreign to Hawaii as those of Colum can hope to succeed. This, in effect, is the stand taken by the civic club in a resolution protesting bitterly against the action of the Hawaiian Folklore Commission in bringing Colum to the islands to collect and prepare for publication two volumes which shall give to the world a true impression of the old Hawaii.

Objections Ignored

Colum, who is here engaged in the work under contract with the commission and the Yale University Press, has so far ignored the objections voiced by the club. In its resolution the club declared that "the employment of a stranger to these islands and their people one unacquainted with a single syllable of the Hawaiian language regardless of the individual merit or excellence of such stranger, renders the collecting of new material by him difficult;" and that "the announced plan of the gentleman whose services have been retained of making a short tour of Hawaii and then returning to New York City, makes it practically assured that nothing of value will be added to the store of knowledge of Hawaiian legendry and folklore."

The club has gone so far as to hint that it may start injunction proceedings to restrain the Folklore Commission from paying out to Colum and the Yale University Press the $5,000 appropriated for this work.

Will Demand Probe of Fascisti by Congress

WASHINGTON, March 23. — Denouncing the organization of the Italian Fascisti in the United States as "reprehensible to the best American institutions," Senator William H. King, Democrat, of Utah, indicated today that the next congress would be asked to investigate the "black shirt" movement.

King warned that the spread of the Fascisti throughout the world might lead to serious international complications, and declared he would formally call it to the attention of the senate when congress reconvenes.

Refuse Appeal for Soviet Recognition

WASHINGTON, March 23. — Turning down a new appeal for the recognition of the Russian soviet government by the United States, Secretary of State Hughes told a committee representing the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom that this government is eager to help Russia, but that it desires a "world not threatened with destructive propaganda of soviet authorities and one in which there will be good faith and recognition of obligations and a sound basis of international intercourse."

STATE SENATORS PASS JURY BILL

Measure Would Allow Verdict to Be Rendered by Nine Jurymen

Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 23. — Passage of the Gates three-fourths jury bill by a two-thirds majority in the senate late yesterday is taken as an indication of swift and favorable action on the measure when it comes up in the house, and if it is passed there it will be placed on the ballot as an amendment to the state constitution.

The bill provides that the right of trial by jury shall be secured to all and shall remain inviolate, but in civil actions and in all criminal cases, excepting where the penalty of death might be imposed as a result of the verdict, three-fourths of the jury may render a verdict.

Pressure that is said to have been exercised on the senators by their folks back home is reported to have converted many of the opponents of the measure to a point of view where they were willing to vote for its passage.

The measure is sponsored by the Los Angeles crime commission, and its passage is taken to presage a distinct improvement in the punishment of crimes in this state.

Senator Frank Carr of Oakland also made an impassioned plea against the constitutional amendment for three-fourths jury verdicts in convictions for crimes of less than murder. He followed Senator Ralph Swing of San Bernardino in a lengthy speech telling the possible dangers of such a decision on the part of the senate.

Battle for Votes

Senator Walter Eden of Santa Ana was among other southern solons who lent their support to Gates' measure and the battle over the two or three votes majority claimed by the representatives of the Los Angeles crime commission earlier in the day, waxed into the warmest debate of the session.

There could be no mistaking an effort on the part of certain class of lawyers to keep the present law which permits their clients from often paying the penalty when some one juror is swayed by oratory, just as Swing and Carr endeavored to do in the hearing.

A luncheon trip to North Sacramento yesterday noon provided the bright feture of the week socially for the solons while this week-end several committees will go on a junketing trip to Jackson, Stockton and other points on affairs of state.

California's present school district laws were termed outrageous by Senator L. L. Dennett of Modesto in the education committee's consideration of the Handy bill to change the political code regarding same.

Motor carriers and labor held a field day in committees last night, the former fighting a seven per cent license tax on gross earnings and the latter insisting on only six days' work a week.

The man who revolves around himself will never get anywhere.

Lost Scientist May Be Studying Botany

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23. — John William Stacey, well known local botanist and book collector, reported missing in London, left here some time ago on a buying mission for a local department store, carrying commissions to purchase rare medical books on which he is an expert for local medical men. He is a medical school graduate and was closely associated with men high in the medical profession.

His wife is now visiting at Truckee. While disturbed over the reports of his mysterious absence she was inclined to believe he had gone on a botanical expedition, possibly to Kew Gardens where he planned to spend some time.

Pass Death Sentence On Convicted Slayer

LOS ANGELES, March 23. — Sentence to die on the gallows within the next ninety days was imposed on Aurelia Pompa, 22, by Superior Judge Avery, for the murder of William Donaldson McCue, on October 19, last, after Pompa had been denied a new trial. Immediately after sentence was pronounced, the condemned man's attorney filed notice of an appeal.

Pompa was convicted by a jury of first degree murder without recommendations as to punishment, which made it mandatory that the death sentence be imposed. Pompa was said to have killed McCue after a minor quarrel.

PRESIDENT OF CHICAGO BANK DEAD IN MYSTERY

Examiners Find Deficit In Institution Forced to Close Its Doors

Fred W. Popp, president of the Logan Square Trust and Savings Bank, in Chicago, was found dead in his automobile on a lonely road, near the city. He had shot himself to death. In a pocket of his coat were found cancelled checks to the amount of $65,000, signed by his son, Paul Popp. Bank examiners say there is a heavy deficit in the institution, which has been closed.

News Notes From Valley Towns

The tenth anniversary of the founding of Tujunga was celebrated St. Patrick's Night."

A basket supper was enjoyed by the crowd that packed and overflowed Bolton Hall. A number of short talks were made by the founders and those active in the development of the community. A jazz band alternated with a Hawaiian trio in a musical program.

The present site of Tujunga was originally laid out by the western empire builders. The real beginning of the town, then named Glorietta, was in 1913. The name was later changed to Los Terrenitor, which in turn was changed to the English equivalent, Little Lands. From a rock strewn and brush covered slope to a town of approximately 3800 souls is the progress of the ten years just past. When the post office was established the name was again changed to the present designation, Tujunga, an Indian name meaning "the high lands."

F. M. Ashby acted as toastmaster. Mr. Ashby is the original postmaster both in reality and fiction as created by John S. McGroarty. Mr. McGroarty responded with a talk on "The Neighbors of the Green Verdugo Hills."

Most of his characters were present to hear their exploiter and entertainer in their turn. Mr. McGroarty has other claims to distinction than literature. He is the only known mayor who has no city to boss. At a recent incorporation election he was voted mayor by a large majority, but the incorporation measure failed to carry and he was left "holding the empty ballot box."

Wilmot Parcher read the constitution and bylaws of the Millionaires of Happiness and Contentment club, of which all the neighbors are charter members. Mr. Parcher is well known throughout the valley as one of the early settlers. At one time he was closely associated with the development of Glendale.

The program was as follows:

"Founding of the Colony," by M. V. Hartranft.

"The Home Town Band," by Dr. C. C. Buck.

"Tujunga," song by ensemble.

"The Colonial Club," by Mrs. Ensign Woodruff.

"The Big Fire," by Leo L. Lang.

"The First Settlers," by Miss Zoe Gilbert.

Selections by Hawaiian trio with steel guitars.

"The Co-operative Store," by George Slusher.

Selection by band.

"First Religious Service," by Dr. B. F. Kearney.

"Onward Christian Soldiers," sung by ensemble.

"Church Organizations," by E. Darlington.

Hawaiian trio.

"Millionaires of Happiness and Contentment," by Wilmot Parcher.

"The Press, by Wallace M. Morgan, editor of the Record-Ledger.

"Neighbors of the Green Verdugo Hills," by John Steven McGroarty.

A two-story business building is to be erected in Montrose for Theodore Balangier of Los Angeles. One of the stores is to be leased to a druggist.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Buckley have returned to their home in Tujunga after a trip to Honolulu.

R. D. Armstrong is now putting on a moving picture show every Monday and Wednesday nights in Tujunga.

A rehearsal for its Easter program is being held this afternoon in the Tujunga Community church.

The Merchants and Manufacturers Association is now planning the erection of a $900 bandstand in Van Nuys.

Van Nuys Post of the American Legion recently held its annual banquet. Attorney Joseph Scott of Los Angeles was the speaker of the occasion.

The coming-of-Age club of Van Nuys is planning a membership drive. The next meeting will be held April 2.

W. C. Cornwell is now building an outdoor plunge in Van Nuys. A complete filtration plant, which weighs 30,000 pounds has been assembled.

George W. Bunton, secretary of the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce, is planning the erection of a new home.

Miss Katherine Whitsett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Whitsett, has returned to her home in Van Nuys after a trip east.

The Lankershim Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Secretary B. B. Ayres, is now planning a membership drive. This association recently was organized as a non-profit making corporation.

C. A. Snelling is planning a fifteen unit bungalow court in Lankershim. Each unit will have three rooms and a bath. The exterior will be stucco.

The Southern California Gas Company is now planning to connect Central avenue and San Fernando road in Lankershim with a six-inch gas main.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hamley are now en route by auto to New York City, where they will embark for Europe. They are pausing along the way to boost Lankershim.

Out in the snow with nine real wild wolves, is an experience which Lee Duncan is relating to his friends in Lankershim. Together with his famous dog, Rin-tin-tin, he has returned from location in the Feather River Canyon where they took snow scenes in Wolf Fangs.

Lankershim banks are now keeping open between 7 and 8 o'clock Saturday nights in order to accommodate ranchers coming from a distance.

Mrs. Mary Coates of Lankershim recently celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday.

S. E. Stephenson of Glendale is now opening up an electrical shop in Lankershim.

W. F. Stoner is having a private swimming pool built in Lankershim.

P. W. Baughman plans to open a laundry in Lankershim.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hickerson have returned to Lankershim from the San Joaquin valley.

Burbank is proud of the fact that $47,500 worth of building permits were issued by Building Inspector Elmer Dale during the first two business hours this week. Among permits issued was one for a brick armory to cost $10,000, one to Rex Obuchon for a bungalow court and eight others.

Miss Geraldine Caroline Catlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Catlin, is now Mrs. Jay Crawford Walker. They are now spending their honeymoon at their new home in Burbank.

Mrs. A. A. Manning is confined to her home in Burbank this week because of influenza.

A $150,000 150-room hotel of steel and concrete is now being planned by J. S. King for Burbank. Plans are being prepared and it is reported that construction will commence this fall.

An exhibition of pictures of historical and natural scenes in America is being shown today at the Edison School in Burbank.

A civil service examination for the postal service will be held on April 7 in the Edison School building at Burbank. E. R. Swearingen secretary of the Burbank post office, will be in charge.

Burbank Masons Monday put on a program in the interest of Public School Week. Attorney Charles Haas of Los Angeles made the address of the occasion. F. S. Moore, principal of the Burbank High school spoke also. Mayor J. C. Crawford presided.

Col. Walter P. Store, commander of 160th infantry of the California National Guard, Sunday afternoon laid the corner stone for Burbank's new armory. Capt. F. C. Tillson, commander of Company I, acted as master of ceremonies. Addresses were made by Mayor J. C. Crawford, president of the Rotary club, W. J. Riley, president of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce, and Morris Spazier, who is putting up the building. The interior of the building will contain a drill hall about eighty feet long, and forty-eight feet wide. There will be a club room, locker room, showers, a supply room and office. The recreation quarters it is expected will be equipped with a pool table, card tables, books and magazines.

The American Legion Post of Burbank has received a suggestion that it take quarters in the new armory.

Twenty-five men are now keeping fit by attending the gymnasium class at 8 o'clock Monday and Wednesday nights at the Burbank High school. Basketball is the chief sport.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Dietrich have moved into their new home in Burbank.

W. R. Pendell and daughter, Martha May, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Pendell of Burbank. They are from Saginaw, Michigan.

The Baptist church of Burbank, which is under construction is now being plastered. The building is now over half completed.

The Pacific Electric has added two new express cars to the service between Burbank and Los Angeles.

The Burbank Post of the American Legion is now organizing a basketball team. The committee on athletics consists of Rupert Malone, Ray Kahl and Clarence Thedaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pollock have moved from Los Angeles to Burbank.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Larson of Glendale are now residents of Burbank.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kirkpatrick are now building a duplex in Burbank.

Partners and Polish

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY
Ad Schuster

The partnership of Filwater Flagg and Nat Ward was nearing an end.

"It is always like this," Nat told himself. "As soon as one man starts making money faster than the other he sees the advantage of individual effort. Just because the people in this part of the state take more kindly to new stockings than they do to silver polish, he thinks he is the superior salesman. He makes me tired."

"I should be riding in a car," Filwater told the other. "I could cover more ground and lay by a small fortune, but, instead, what am I doing? I am doing all the work, I am, and I'm getting tired of it. Either you sell more silver polish or we quit, and the next town will be the place."

Nat tried his best to convince the housewives his polish would shine anything from the doorknob to a nutcracker, but failed to increase the low daily average that was his. He was a small man who stooped when he walked, and when he waited at the door for a customer to answer his ring he rested his palms near his knees. There were women who said he looked like a big frog ready to jump. Filwater was a tall and what he called dashing. He had a way. Nat was ready for the dissolution of the firm but, first he would get even.

The tall partner was jubilant and determined at once when he returned to the hotel.

"It's been a big day," he said. "I fixed it up to demonstrate at a Ladies' Aid meeting and tomorrow I will sell half the town in a bunch. What did you do?

Nat's report brought the decision.

"Tomorrow," said Filwater, "you go your way trying to brighten a world which will not use your polish, and I go mine selling silk hose to women who can't afford them."

"Anyway," said Nat, "my polish is good stuff. I ain't no cheat." The partnership with these words was broken forever.

That night when Filwater was asleep Nat crept over to the chair upon which his former partner's trousers were hanging, slipped his hand into the pocket and drew forth a penknife. From his own pocket he took a small oilstone and for an hour he slid the blade over the polished surface. Then he returned the knife to the pocket and went to sleep.

"Ladies," said Filwater Flagg, in his demonstrating voice, "these stockings I have to offer are not of the flimsy and inferior quality which you buy elsewhere. They are sturdy goods made on honor by one of the most reputable firms. Do I ask of you to take my word? I do not. What I claim I prove. Behold!"

Filwater drew out his knife, opened the single blade and inserted the point in a stocking which he held tight-drawn over his hand. It was his intention to draw the blade firmly down the length of the silk and to show the women that not a thread had broken. In the old days he had used a nail file, as many agents do, but the knife, with its rounded blade, looked more impressive. Always he omitted to tell his hearers one could do the same thing with the oldest stockings they could find. It was a trick of salesmanship known to the road; known also to Nat Ward.

"You will see," the demonstrator continued, "that all of the threads of this stocking will stand the strain. The experiment will prove the worth of the goods."

Filwater performed the experiment and split the stocking neatly from end to end. One of the women giggled nervously, then several laughed. The salesman looked helplessly at the stocking while his thumb sought the edge of the blade, and the secret of his failure.

"I won't stop to explain," he said, "what is an unfortunate occurrence that never happened before."

When Filwater left the hall and the meeting he saw Nat leaning against a tree across the street. The older man had his hands on his knees and he looked more than ever like a frog, like a happy frog who knew how to whistle.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

I, I, I: I, MYSELF,
THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME
Chapter XLIX
A Little Con

'Lo, Mamas! What shall we have a little conference on today? Something about babies' bowel movements? All right.

First I shall tell you about mine, for I am a normal, healthy, breast fed baby, and I hope my little colleagues are n. h. b. f. b's. too. I abbreviate here because it does not take so long to write the initials as it does to repeat normal-healthy-breast-fed-babies. But normal-healthy-breast-fed - babies does sound good, doesn't it?

Well, the first three or four days my bowel movements were very black, sticky and tarry looking. That is what Doctor calls meconium. It was largely the contents of my intestinal tract which accumulated before I was born. During these first two or three days after I came to this beautiful world my mama's milk was very thin and did not have many calories in it—although it had lots of vitamins and other things I needed—so my bowel movements (the technical name is stools) did not have much other than the meconium.

However, as soon as my milk was sure milk, my stools became a little thicker and changed color to yellow. We nursing babies' bowel movements are seldom really firm stools, mamas, and sometimes they are quite loose. But that may be normal for us, and you must not worry about us when they are that way, especially when we are gaining and are healthy in other ways.

I had from two to four movements a day for some time. I told you about how my Mama trained me to use the little vessel held in her lap when I was about three months old, so now my bowels move very regularly twice a day—after my second morning feeding and my late afternoon feeding. I seldom soil a napkin now, and that is a very great convenience for us all. However, mamas, most of all in importance is the regularity of my bowels which this excellent habit has brought about.

A small amount of mucus and some little soft white curds in our stools, so that they look something like partially cooked eggs, is perfectly normal for us breast-fed babies, mamas, if we are doing well. Many of us who are gaining and happy in every way have this type of stool. Doctor says she has seen many mamas terribly upset over this type of stool in their babies—especially if a little green after standing a time—while the babies were not upset in the least; that is, not until their mamas began to give them medicine for the supposed indigestion. It is only when the mucus is in excess and there are more than our ordinary number of movements a day that you need think we have diarrhea.

The babies who haven't the advantage of having their own mamas' milk, but have to have cow mamas' milk, gruels, etc., have a different type of stool than we do. When their movements are normal, they are thicker and more like a firm salve in consistency and smoothness. They are also fewer in number and perhaps are passed no more than once a day. If we babies have a good movement once a day—unless it is too dry and hard—we cannot be considered constipated.

And, mama dears, don't worry if you find our movements turn green after standing a few minutes. That is simply due to the change of the bile coloring matter back to its original green by contact with the air. If they are green and very loose as they are passed, that may be due to a diarrhea and too quick passage of food through our intestines. That, of course, requires attention.

But I shall tell you more about these and curds and other things next week.

Au Revoir.

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

FEEDING THE ELBOWS

Elbows continue to be in fashion; that is, Paris designers continue to make extremely short sleeves, as well as extremely long ones. Therefore, the woman with ugly elbows can hide them and still dress as smartly as she chooses. But who wants to possess an ugly feature, even though it can be hidden?

We have talked often about elbow treatment in this space, and I am sorry to say I have no brilliant new suggestions to offer. Experience has shown me that there are only two good ways of making ugly elbows pretty. One is to scrub them thoroughly and rub them with vanishing cream, which will make them temporarily much better looking, the other is to scrub them and then either soak them in oil or rub them full of a nourishing cold cream. This is of permanent benefit.

Ugly elbows are generally thin and pointed and always are covered with dry, harsh skin. Scrubbing is only the preliminary treatment, for in itself it dries the skin still further so that it will pick up even more dirt from the atmosphere and dye from a dark dress. But scrubbing is a most necessary preliminary. The elbows should be treated vigorously with a good soap, hot water, and a moderately stiff bristled nail or hand brush. This cleanses the skin and stimulates it and opens the pores ready to receive the nourishing oil.

An easy way is to sit for ten minutes with the elbows resting in a saucer of warm olive oil. A method as effective but more energetic is to coat the skin generously with oil and rub it in thoroughly with the hands. This treatment should always be done at night, so the oil-saturated skin does not come in contact with dark clothing. The temporary treatment with vanishing cream can be given at any time

H. H. H.:—One hundred and three pounds for a girl of 17 who is five feet is not underweight. With a dark skin, blue eyes and dark hair, your colors will be the same as those for any brunette. Rich color, such as cardinal, amber, henna, peacock blue or scarlet, will give life to your skin.

Betty and Dotty:—To reduce your weight eat less starchy foods, such as white bread, potatoes and beans. Substitute for these whole wheat or graham bread, spinach, fruit and green salads.

Rest the Elbows in a Saucer of Oil

Trailing A.:—Since you have this excessive perspiration only during the school hours, it is probably the effect of a nervous condition. Consult your doctor about it. You may find some temporary relief by bathing under the arms with witch hazel, followed by a powder in which there is a mild antiseptic.

Tomorrow — Our Friends, the Calories.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

WHERE WE GET OUR OPINIONS

The other evening I heard four people arguing which was the more potent factor in shaping a man's destiny, heredity or environment.

Each of the four had chosen a side and each argued heatedly for that side. They were evenly divided, two for heredity and two for environment, and so they had a gorgeous battle.

They talked for half an hour, citing personal experiences and observations and expressing opinions. For once in my life I didn't join in the argument (much as I love arguing). Why? Because, as it happened I had just read a book by a man who has spent most of his life studying such matters from the standpoint of biology and history, and I knew just enough to know that I knew next to nothing on the matter.

Also to realize that they knew little, and that the opinions they so ardently defended were nothing but personal opinions based on emotions and the love of argument for argument's sake.

How Little Real Basis!

I started to feel superior and then I thought: "Yes, but a week ago, before you read that book, you would have chosen a side and leaped into the fray with the same enthusiasm and the same lack of reason they are showing."

It is an appalling thought, when you give it a chance to creep in—this realization of how little real basis in study and knowledge our opinions have. Perhaps we have them handed down to us from our ancestors as in the case of religious and political opinions, or perhaps we idly pick them up from reading some article which cleverly presents one side of some case; later when we read the other side (if we ever do) we have already adopted the first way of looking at the subject, which does not make for an open mind to see the other side of the case.

Why are you a Republican?
Why are you a Methodist?
Why do you believe in osteopathy?
Why do you argue against government ownership?
Why do you think Latin ought or ought not to be the most important study in college?

We Love to Take Sides

If we could see our beliefs and basis for them with a perfectly impartial eye I think we would often be astonished.

Mankind loves to take sides. He loves to espouse (notice what a strong word has come to be used in this connection) an idea or a party or a cause, and defend it ardently. I suppose that is part of the mania for possession.

The tremendous emphasis we give to contests such as the Harvard-Yale game come from this side-taking instinct. I don't know what per cent of those who attend such games are actually college men or college graduates, but I imagine it is a small one. And the rest simply take sides for the joy of taking sides, and shout themselves hoarse for their side when they really have no closer connection with the college of their choice than that they once had a second cousin who went a year to Harvard or that they hate Harvard because they think it has a bunch of highbrows and they want to see them beaten.

James Harvey Robinson in his delightful book on "Mind in the Making" has a paragraph that sums up this tendency most cleverly and makes one see how foolish is much of our side-taking:

"We are incredibly heedless in the formation of our beliefs, but find ourselves filled with an illicit passion for them when anyone proposes to rob us of their companionship. It is obviously not the ideas themselves which are dear to us, but our self-esteem which is threatened. We are by nature stubbornly pledged to defend our own from attack whether it be our person, our family, our property or our opinion."

For the inexperienced cook, I am going to tell "just how" to make delicious cornstarch cupcakes. Put into a medium-sized mixing bowl one-half cup of butter. Work this to a cream, then rub into it one cup of granulated sugar. Now put into your flour sifter one and one-half cups of ordinary bread flour, one-half cup of cornstarch, a pinch of salt and two and one-half teaspoons of baking powder. Stir them around a little to mix before you begin sifting them. Do not sift them into the mixing bowl yet; sift them into another bowl, so that you can put them through the sifter once more before sifting into the mixing bowl.

Separate two eggs, beating the yolks stiff and setting them aside, to add later. Beat the yolks several moments, then stir into them one-half cup of sweet milk. Add this milk-and-egg mixture to the mixing bowl alternately with the dry flour mixture. The result will be a stiff batter. Flavor with one-half teaspoon of lemon extract, and then add the stiffly-whipped egg whites.

Your batter is now ready to be put into the greased cup-cake pans. I always use the very small cupcake "wells," rather than the wider ones (my small "wells" measure one and one-half inches in diameter across the bottom and are one inch deep; my larger pans have wells which measure about two inches and one-half across the bottom and one inch deep). For, by using the small wells, one can of course have more cup cakes as a result, and yet these small cakes are large enough for a satisfactory serving. This recipe makes 18 small cup cakes (each well about half full of batter before baking), and 14 large.

Bake the cup cakes for 25 minutes in a good, hot oven. Then take them from the oven and frost them at once, while still hot, with the following uncooked frosting:

Rub into one and one-half cups of confectioners' sugar enough sweet milk to make a very stiff batter. Then add one tablespoon of melted butter, and one-fourth teaspoon of lemon extract and mix well. Now add a slight sprinkling more of the sugar, so as to make a stiff paste. If you prefer a chocolate icing, mix one tablespoon of dry cocoa with the sugar before adding milk, and substitute vanilla for the lemon flavoring.

Tomorrow—Recipes from Readers

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Kills Wife and Self While Children Sleep

LODI, Calif., March 23. — Roy Harper, rancher, Thursday almost slashed his wife's head from her body with a large pocketknife as she slept at the Lodi hotel, and after making sure she was dead, cut his own throat with the same knife, dying a few minutes later.

Three small children of the Harper's were asleep in an adjoining room and witnessed their father's suicide. They had been awakened by the gurgling cry of their mother as she died.

The couple apparently had been in Southern California in their automobile, as they registered from Lookout, Modoc county, and were north bound.

The only light thrown on the possible cause of the tragedy came from Muriel, 11 years old, who said her father had suffered from "spells" ever since he had fallen from the roof of a barn two years ago, alighting on his head.

Yesterday she heard her father exclaim:

"I'm sick. I'm going crazy."

Harper was apparently in good financial shape, a bank book showing he had a balance of over $5000.

Guard Arms Plants as Workers Are Dismissed

TOKIO, March 23.—Police today were guarding the Tokio arsenals following the dismissal of 3000 workers. The discharge of the workers was due to the policy of arms reduction, it was stated, and trouble is feared if the discharged men attempt a demonstration.

Legislators Listen to Testimony on Attacks

HARRISON, Ark., March 23.—Hope for an early end of the open hearing by the joint house and senate committee into the acts of citizens here last January towards striking railroad men of the Missouri & North Arkansas railroad was held today.

Although more than a hundred witnesses—members of citizens' committees from the towns and villages along the railroad route, still remain to be heard, legislators expressed the belief that the investigation probably would close tomorrow. It may be a month before their formal findings are made public.

Today's testimony was simply a repetition of the story told by every witness during the three day investigation—an admission that citizens, armed with pistols, shotguns and rifles, banded together to rid northern Arkansas of strikers after bridges had been burned, engines crippled and operation of the road suspended.

Denial that strikers had been injured or abused was made.

George D. Squires Is Given State Position

SACRAMENTO, March 23. — Governor Friend W. Richardson has sent a message to the senate announcing the appointment of George D. Squires as state insurance commissioner. The appointment was almost immediately confirmed by the senate without any opposing votes.

Since the resignation of Alexander McCabe, just before Governor Stephens' term of office expired, the office of insurance commissioner has been occupied by E. C. Cooper.

Cooper was appointed by Governor Stephens but the appointment was withdrawn from the senate by Richardson as soon as he became governor and prior to that his legal adviser in the treasury department.

Kellogg's Bran is ALL BRAN —that's why it relieves constipation!

Half-way measures mean nothing to the man, woman or child whose very existence is threatened by the habitual clogging of the elimination channels. Foods with only part bran can never clean and sweep the intestines in the nature-way as does Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

And, Kellogg's Bran is as delicious in flavor as it is positive in its action. If it is eaten regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases, with each meal—it will permanently relieve the most aggravated case.

Your health will be greatly improved within a brief period if you will eat this delicious Kellogg cereal. Know what Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, will do for you and for your loved ones. There is no time to be lost in getting the relief that Kellogg's Bran assures.

Kellogg's Bran is delightful as a cereal, sprinkled over any hot or cold cereal, or served in countless appetizing ways in baking and cooking. It makes the best sort of pancakes, muffins, raisin bread, macaroons, etc., you ever ate. And, each mouthful contributes to health! Kellogg recipes are printed on each package. Kellogg's Bran works for you all the time! Your physician will recommend Kellogg's Bran for constipation.

A pimply complexion or an offensive breath can both be overcome by the regular use of Kellogg's Bran, which is sold by grocers everywhere.

Advocate of 'Peaceful Russia' Almost Mobbed

WATERBURY, Conn., March 23—"Russia is a wonderful country," remarked Jacob Suirban, of Brooklyn, in the course of an address before a Lithuanian literary society here.

"Why don't you go there then?" shouted one of the audience.

A police squad, sent there "on suspicion" before the lecture, saved Suirban from the rest of the audience, which suddenly was imbued with a desire to ill-treat him.

WALLET NOT SO FAT AS OF OLD

Duchess of Albany Leaves Big Sum, but Other Royalties Will Not

By F. A. WRAY
For International News Service

LONDON, March 24.—The late Duchess of Albany's estate, valued at $886,000, has again raised the question of the financial position of the British Royal Family.

Formerly Princess Helena of Waldeck, and widow of Prince Leopold, eighth son of Queen Victoria, the Princess had an annuity of $30,000 from the British House of Commons. This annuity she had enjoyed for 38 years.

But her husband had no personal fortune and she had little, if any. She had heavy personal expenses throughout her lifetime—also devoting large sums to charity—and yet she left a big fortune. And the mystery surrounding the royal finances remains.

It is true that Queen Victoria left a large private fortune. How much only her immediate relatives knew, because royal wills are never published. But it was generally accepted that the venerable queen left between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 of her own. on the other hand, King Edward was never supposed to have left a great amount. His personal expenditure was probably heavy.

At the present time King George receives a yearly sum of $2,350,000, out of which he has to pay for the upkeep of the royal palaces and the household staffs. After paying out all expenses and giving very large sums to charity, it is generally estimated that his yearly accounts do little more than barely balance, and fresh economies are being constantly introduced by Queen Mary into the royal establishments. King George, however, has steadfastly refused every suggestion that parliament should grant him an increased allowance, in view of the heavy rise in prices during the last few years.

Wales's Expenses Big

The Prince of Wales has a revenue of about $350,000 from various estates, but his expenses, also, are exceedingly heavy, and there are probably many young men in England who are much better off than he is. His brothers receive only a small allowance, amounting to a few thousand dollars a year, from the royal purse.

Queen Dowager Alexandra receives $350,000 yearly from parliament, and her personal expenses have recently been cut down to a minimum. The greater part of her outgoings are devoted to charity—much of which is purely private and unpublished—but probably she is best off of all the members of the royal family from the viewpoint of ready money, and she may leave quite a respectable fortune.

So, on the whole, although British royalties of two generations ago may have accumulated a good deal of money, it is doubtful whether the younger and present members do much more than pay their way, and few fortunes of the extent of the Duchess of Albany's are likely to be left by them in the near future.

Montana May Open Up Volcano of Its Own

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont., March 24.—BeBcause nature failed to provide Glacier National Park with volcanoes a scheme has been evolved by oil men of Shelby, Mont., to remedy the oversight and "make" volcanoes that will rival the famous eruptions of Kilaueau, Vesuvius and Popocatapetl.

The plan suggested involves the piping of natural gas from the Shelby-Kevin-Sunburst oil field, sixty miles distant, to a park mountain, sink a shaft from top to base, connect it up and touch it off. Result—a most gigantic and spectacular volcanic display, by the use of natural gas.

At present the production of natural gas from two wells in the Shelby field is more than 11,000,000 cubic feet per day. Little use is made of this gas, except as fuel for drilling rigs and for domestic purposes in Shelby, a town of about 500 population.

According to the promoters of the scheme it is assumed that the intense heat generated by the burning of so large a quantity of gas in a shaft would soon melt the rock formation to such an extent that a surprisingly realistic volcanic crater would be formed. The illumination from this spectacle, it is believed, would light up the countryside for miles around.

Says Husband Beat Her Daily for Seven Years

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 23.—"We have been married seven years and my husband beat me every day since we were married—except on three days."

Mrs. Kondrot Holuk of 165 Sharon street, told this in city court. The husband made it out not so bad as that, saying that he did not beat her every day, but when he drank moonshine he beat her. He was sentenced to two months, but on promise to quit drinking and wife beating his sentence was suspended for two years.

Finds Fence Rail He Split 40 Years Ago

FREDERICKTOWN, Mo., Mch. 24.—Back in 1883 Judge Hamp Ward, of this place, was splitting rails on his farm for his fence. Sitting down to rest he carelessly carved the date on one of the rails. Recently he was repairing a part of the fence when he saw the rail that had withstood the elements of the last forty years and was still in good condition.

Pigmy elephants that attain a height of only five and one-half feet are natives of the Congo.
